U.S. Revises Its Travel Ban On Red China To Allow Close Relatives Of U.S. Prisoners Visas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UP)—The State Department changed signals today and said it would permit close relatives to visit six Americans still held in Chinese Communist prisons.

The expulsion offered concrete evidence of the federation's pledge it will rid member unions of corruption or throw them out.

Four other unions face expulsion threats on corruption charges. They are the Distillery, Laundry, Bakery and United Textile Workers unions. Their cases are expected to come before the convention next week.

Won't Weaken It

Contacted during a recess in his federal court trial on wiretap charges in New York, Hoffa said the ouster wouldn't weaken the union.

"I'm still head of the Teamsters," he told newsmen. "Our plans were never made on the basis of the AFL-CIO . . . They didn't build us and they won't weaken us."

Hoffa said he believed the Teamsters would still be able to operate successfully.

"We will be a willing part of the organized labor movement," he declared, "so long as they do not attempt to destroy our economy or attempt to direct or control us."

Just before the vote, AFL-CIO

More Violence Charges Handed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee today heard testimony that a Teamsters Union business agent was sent out to shoot up a couple of nonunion truck drivers but wound up being accidentally shot himself.

The senators never did learn exactly how "Hard-hearing Smith," known more formally as W. A. Smith, came to be shot in the left arm. After he got out of the Hospital, in Maryville, Tenn., Smith was inclined to treat the incident as a joke.

Neither of the nonunion truckers, D. Robertson and Tom Copeland, was injured when they were fired on by an unidentified gunman while driving their rigs along a Tennessee highway last night.

AFL-CIO Ousts Teamsters Union; Vote Margin 5-1

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Dec. 6 (AP)—The AFL-CIO today expelled the International Teamsters Union by a 5-1 margin on charges it is dominated by corruptive influences, principally President-elect James R. Hoffa.

Vote on ousting the federation's largest affiliate was 10,458,598 for and 2,266,497 against.

A roll call came after more than three hours of debate and a last-minute impassioned appeal from the Teamsters Union itself for a year's grace period.

The expulsion offered concrete evidence of the federation's pledge it will rid member unions of corruption or throw them out.

Four other unions face expulsion threats on corruption charges. They are the Distillery, Laundry, Bakery and United Textile Workers unions. Their cases are expected to come before the convention next week.

Four Airmen Die In Crash At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 6 (AP)—A B-47 Stratojet bomber crashed and killed all four occupants late today while taking off from the Barksdale Air Force Base here during a driving rainstorm.

The dead were identified as:

Capt. Jack E. Farquhar, 37, Yoakum, Tex., aircraft commander, father of three children.

Capt. John F. Dent, 31, Clinton, Md., the pilot, father of four children.

Capt. Jack W. Duncan, 33, Toledo, Ohio, navigator, father of three children.

First Lt. Carlton A. Boutelle, 27, New York City, instructor navigator, father of two.

Families of the men lived in Shreveport.

The B-47 had been scheduled to make a routine navigational flight to Pinecastle Air Force Base, Fla.

The Stratojet, airborne only seconds before the crash, immediately burst into flames. The fire raged more than an hour.

Three Injured Near Here In 2-Car Wreck

TWO vehicles crashed head-on at the crest of a slippery hill, seven miles west of West Monroe on U.S. 80, last night, injuring three persons.

The injured included Marvin Platt, 27, 607 Orange Street, of Monroe and a Mississippi couple.

Platt told a reporter at the St. Francis Hospital last night that his car collided head-on with the Mississippi automobile as it attempted to pass a third vehicle.

Occupants of the Mississippi vehicle were identified as Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Blount, Decatur, Miss. They were listed in "serious but not critical" condition.

Platt, suffering from a possible fractured knee and a lacerated scalp, was in "satisfactory" condition. He lost a front tooth in the crash.

Both vehicles were damaged considerably in the 7:45 p.m. mishap. They met in the east-bound traffic lane, according to the State Police.

Two passengers were riding with Platt, but escaped uninjured. They were B. T. Smith, Rt. 3, Monroe, and Herman Brown, Negro, of 4200 Gaten Street, Monroe.

Platt was traveling toward Monroe as the Blount auto moved in the direction of Ruston. The accident occurred where state 15 meets U.S. 80 at Sanford's Store.

The Blounts were suffering from multiple contusions, lacerations and possible fractures.

Three ambulances rushed the victims to the St. Francis. The accident occurred in a drizzle of rain. The highway was wet.

No charges had been filed last night pending a further investigation by the State Police.

PEOPLE ARE RAVING ABOUT 'DEAR ABBY'

One of the best personal advice columns in the nation starts Monday on the women pages of the Monroe News-Star. The title of the column is DEAR ABBY and is written by Abigail Van Buren—pen name for attractive Mrs. Pauline Phillips. She is known to her friends as "Po-Po."

Abigail Van Buren is the identical twin-sister of Ann Landers who writes a similar column, Called Your Problems, in the Monroe Morning World. Those two are rated the highest in the nation and now you get both of them in your Monroe newspaper.

DEAR ABBY is a fascinating, provocative column containing sage advice to bewildered readers. She has a brilliant slant on everyday problems and readers have come to think of her as a confidante on whom they may rely. Abby has a keen understanding of problems confronting discontented wives and husbands, teen-agers, distressed parents, mistrusting sweethearts, and, in general, people who are faced with crises in their lives and are seeking an outsider's viewpoint. Interspersed with her sage advice is a bright, humorous style of writing you are certain to enjoy.

You'll not want to miss this scintillating column. So if you are not a News-Star subscriber, become one soon. In fact, why not call the circulation department today. The number is FA 2-5161.

U.S. Revises Its Travel Ban On Red China To Allow Close Relatives Of U.S. Prisoners Visas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UP)—The State Department changed signals today and said it would permit close relatives to visit six Americans still held in Chinese Communist prisons.

It emphasized, however, that it would continue its general policy of refusing passports for travel to the Red mainland.

The action reversed a January, 1955 decision by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that it would be "imprudent" for relatives of jailed Americans to go to Red China.

At that time, the Communists held 52 Americans and were voicing many threats against the United States. The number of prisoners since has been whittled down to six, primarily through American-Red Chinese negotiations at Geneva.

HUMANITARIAN

Department Press Officer Lincoln White said the decision to issue passports to close relatives of the remaining prisoners was prompted solely by humanitarian considerations.

He denied it meant the department had given up hope the Chinese Reds would release the prisoners — two civilian Army employees, two businessmen and two Catholic priests.

Even with the passports, there was no guarantee Red China would admit the Americans to

Khrushchev Claims U.S. Has Rocket

MOSCOW, Dec. 6 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev declared tonight part of the carrier rocket of Sputnik I fell in the United States Sunday and the Americans won't give it back.

The Communist party secretary emphasized he meant the United States itself, not simply the American continent.

Convicts Given Time For Threats

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 6 (UPI) — Because they threatened the lives of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, three youthful convicts will spend several more years behind prison walls.

Freddie Gene Bradley, 20, Odessa, Tex., was sentenced to five years; Edward Evans Landers, 20, Augusta, Ga., got 10 years, and an 8-year sentence went to Robert Lewis Kemp, 19, Blue Island, Ill.

The youthful trio, all serving time in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., appeared today before U. S. District Judge Ross Rizley, who handed down the sentences. Herbert K. Hyde represented the defendants.

City Courts

MONROE

The following cases were heard in City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

According to official records, Melvin Savannah, 17, of 116½ Mangham Alley, drew a $350 or seven month sentence on an illegal weapons charge.

Thomas H. Vickery, 20, paid a $400 fine for driving while intoxicated. Vickery gave his address as Greenville, Ala.

Frank Robinson, 40, of 206 Ford, was fined $100 on an illegal weapons charge.

Records showed that Helen Grayson, 18, of 100 South 10th, received a $200 or 200-day sentence on a simple theft charge.

The court register also listed Ike Tellis, 32, of 513 North 13th, as paying a $100 fine for carrying a concealed weapon, and a $25 fine on a drunkenness charge.

Four persons paid a total of $202.50 in fines and court costs on minor traffic and civil charges, and four persons received compulsory sentences on drunkenness and vagrancy charges.

Nine persons drew sentences ranging from $10 or 10 days to $50 or 50 days, mostly on minor traffic charges.

Cash bond forfeitures totaling $62 were paid by six persons.

Nelson Fund Reaches Goal, $1,300 Given

Pythian Sisters To Name Officers

Members of the Pythian Sisters will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in Castle Hall to elect new officers for Temple number one.

Ozell Thompson urges a good attendance and announces that refreshments will be served.

Stonewall Lodge number eight of the Knights of Pythias met earlier this week and named Carl Paulus chancellor commander. Ira Cagle was elected vice chancellor commander; Adams Causay, prelate; J. E. Simpson, master of works; Oscar McMullen, inner guard; John Holmes, outer guard; Jessie T. Heard, secretary; Jessie George, treasurer; Bill Nield, grand lodge representative, and H. O. Norman and Joe Griggs alternate representatives.

Goal Met

According to Neil Castleberry, chairman of the drive, the Nelson family now has more than enough on hand to pay all outstanding medical bills resulting from the auto accident, which seriously injured Dean, and they will have some money left in the event future operations on his eyes are necessary.

The possibility that further eye operations will not be needed was seen this week when Dean returned to Little Rock to consult with an eye specialist there. At that time he was informed an operation would not be advised at this time, and exercises were recommended to help strengthen the eye.

"Lovely Louisiana" will be the first guide of its kind ever published in Louisiana and will extol the beauties and interests of the state to potential visitors around the world. It is Louisiana's first bid for tourist business on a statewide basis.

The Louisiana Municipal Association is sponsoring the travel guide, with the enthusiastic endorsement of the State Department of Commerce and Industry.

Richland 4-H'ers Conduct Meeting

DELHI (Special) — Highlighting the parish 4-H calendar recently was a meeting in Rayville of all 4-H members enrolled in Junior Leadership as a 4-H project.

At this meeting, Mrs. Sidney Reech, Associate County Agent, explained the opportunities and awards for those enrolled in junior leadership. Plans for the parish-wide junior and senior 4-H Club Christmas parties were made and various committees were appointed to plan the parties.

Those attending the junior leadership meeting from their respective schools were: Sandra Gryder, Hazel Edna Hoben, Judy Sanford, Eddie Sue Sory, Ann Bruce, Linda Hazlewood, Donna Barthel, Odwina Fusilier, Carol Cotton, Mary Beggs, Jeri Byers, Bena Ball, Buddy Ware and Buddy Lewery, Rayville; Douglas Peterson and Billy McKnight, Holly Ridge; Mary Belle Steinbriher, Mangham.

Also attending the meeting were County Agent Basil Doles, associate county agent Sidney Reech Jr.; home demonstration agent, Mrs. Hazel Fusilier, assistant parish home demonstration agent, Dorothy Russell, and assistant county agent, Paul Hardee.

Crossett Chamber Sponsors Contest

CROSSETT (Special) — The Retail Merchants Committee of the Crossett Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Best Decorated Home Contest for outside Christmas decorations during the Christmas season. Entries in the contest will be judged on beauty, completeness of arrangement, and neatness.

Plaques will be awarded winners in the contest. Judging of entries will be conducted on the evening of December 20, 1957. A spokesman for the sponsoring organization stated that persons desiring to enter the contest should contact the Chamber of Commerce immediately.

SLATES INSTALLATION

CLARKS (Special) — Officers of Clarks Lodge 382 F&AM will be elected and installed on Saturday, December 14, 1957 at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the installation ceremonies. Murphy D. Ballard, Sr. will serve as installing officer. All Masons are invited to attend a banquet at 7:00 p.m. which will be served by White Lily Chapter 129 O.E.S.

Providence Jaycees Oppose Rate Hike

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — In our immediate area is inadequate and attempts to correct this inadequacy are not being made. Since adequate telephone service is necessary to the growth and progress of a community, it is our feeling that this increased service should be provided by Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company at the rates set by the Public Service Commission. However, if this company cannot provide this vital service, it is our feeling that another company should be given the opportunity to do this job."

Tom Davis, president of the local chapter, stated that the members expressed themselves as being opposed to the tactics being used by Southern Bell in trying to obtain higher telephone rates in our state.

The resolution stated, in part: "It is our belief that a public utility has no right to publicly announce their intention to provide no new expansion unless the rate they feel is correct is granted."

Service Inadequate

The resolution went on to state:

"We feel that telephone service in our immediate area is inadequate and attempts to correct this inadequacy are not being made. Since adequate telephone service is necessary to the growth and progress of a community, it is our feeling that this increased service should be provided by Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company at the rates set by the Public Service Commission. However, if this company cannot provide this vital service, it is our feeling that another company should be given the opportunity to do this job."

The resolution concluded that since considerable publicity has been given to the case of Southern Bell Telephone, they authorized the publication of their resolution, so that the public might know their stand on the matter.

Crude Stocks Show Decline

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (UPI) — The Bureau of Mines reported today stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 279,725,000 barrels on Nov. 30, a net decrease of 3,414,000 barrels for the week. Domestic crude decreased 2,345,000. Foreign crude decreased 1,069,000.

Daily average production was 6,829,000 barrels, a decrease of 3,000. Runs to stills averaged 7,807,000, an increase of 108,000.

Stocks, by grade of origin, and change from previous week (in thousands of barrels):

Arkansas, 2,739 increase 84; Northern Louisiana, 3,309 decrease 33; Gulf Coast Louisiana, 16,766 decrease 683; Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, 2,804 decrease 152; Oklahoma, 20,519 decrease 77; East Texas, 9,154 decrease 187; West Texas, 54,785 decrease 762; Gulf Texas, 25,868 decrease 350; other Texas, 34,769 increase 110.

Convicts Given Time For Threats

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 6 — (UPI) — Because they threatened the lives of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, three youthful convicts will spend several more years behind prison walls.

Freddie Gene Bradley, 20, Odessa, Tex., was sentenced to five years; Edward Evans Landers, 20, Augusta, Ga., got 10 years, and an 8-year sentence went to Robert Lewis Kemp, 19, Blue Island, Ill.

The youthful trio, all serving time in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., appeared today before U. S. District Judge Ross Rizley, who handed down the sentences. Herbert K. Hyde represented the defendants.

Natchez Officer Begins Serving Term For Bigamy

ATLANTA, Dec. 6 (UPI) — A former lieutenant colonel from Natchez, Miss., has started serving an eight-month prison sentence on conviction of bigamy by an Army court martial.

He is Leroy Adams, who was tried at Ft. McPherson in Atlanta Nov. 25. Adams pleaded guilty to charges of having a family in Natchez and another in Japan.

The Ft. McPherson public information office said records showed the court sentenced Adams to dismissal from service, forfeiture of all pay and two years confinement. Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, 3rd Army commander who reviewed the case, reduced the period of confinement to eight months.

Nelson Fund Reaches Goal, $1,300 Given

CROSSETT, (Special) — Contributions for the Dean Nelson Fund, to help the Crossett boy who was injured last fall while helping direct football homecoming traffic, amounted to nearly $1,300 this week, as the drive drew to a close.

Money has been sent in from all over the state of Arkansas and some from Louisiana toward meeting the outstanding medical bills incurred during the year of treatment the boy has undergone. Collections by the Kiwanis Club at the Thanksgiving football game amounted to $135.91, and the campaign was further advanced by a check for $120.65 from Local 369 of the Paper Makers Union, and a check for $25.00 from Local 1517, Painters and Decorators Union.

Goal Met

According to Neil Castleberry, chairman of the drive, the Nelson family now has more than enough on hand to pay all outstanding medical bills resulting from the auto accident, which seriously injured Dean, and they will have some money left in the event future operations on his eyes are necessary.

The possibility that further eye operations will not be needed was seen this week when Dean returned to Little Rock to consult with an eye specialist there. At that time he was informed an operation would not be advised at this time, and exercises were recommended to help strengthen his eyes. The doctor reported another check-up after the first of the year may reveal the operation will not be needed.

The court register also listed Ike Tellis, 32, of 512 North 13th, as paying a $100 fine for carrying a concealed weapon, and a $25 fine on a drunkenness charge.

Records showed that Helen Grayson, 18, of 100 South 10th, received a $200 or 20-day sentence on a simple theft charge.

The court register also listed Frank Robinson, 40, of 206 Ford, was fined $100 on an illegal weapons charge.

Records showed that Helen Grayson, 18, of 100 South 10th, received a $200 or 20-day sentence on a simple theft charge.

The court register also listed

Ike Tellis, 32, of 512 North 13th, as paying a $100 fine for carrying a concealed weapon, and a $25 fine on a drunkenness charge.

Four persons paid a total of $202.50 in fines and court costs on minor traffic and civil charges, and four persons received compulsory sentences on drunkenness and vagrancy charges.

Nine persons drew sentences ranging from $10 or 10 days to $50 or 50 days, mostly on minor traffic charges.

Cash bond forfeitures totaling $62 were paid by six persons.

Move Started To Free Giles From Prison

AUSTIN, Dec. 6 (UPI) — A private citizen started a move today to get former land commissioner Bascom Giles out of the state penitentiary.

Earle E. Burkhalter, operator of an Austin automobile spring and alignment service garage, filed a petition bearing about 100 names with the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Burkhalter, a member of the Volunteer Parole Board of Travis County, said he believes Giles should be home in time to spend Christmas with his family.

Burkhalter Says

Burkhalter said he became interested in Giles' case when he read that granting a parole "would not meet with community acceptance."

The pardons board last April denied clemency for Giles and said he should serve the remainder of a six-year prison term assessed him on Jan. 10, 1956 for theft in connection with the veterans land scandals.

Giles' scheduled discharge date, with time off for good behavior, will be in January, 1959.

Burkhalter said he was only casually acquainted with Giles. In a prepared statement, he said:

Prepares Statement

"Some people have been saying that Giles is a political prisoner. I am not intimately acquainted with the members of the parole board but I am sure they are not moved by political considerations."

"I do not believe, however, that if they cling to the theory that Bascom Giles' liberty would not be acceptable to the people of Travis County and of Texas they are grievously in error," he added.

Jack Ross, chairman of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, said the petition would be considered the same as any other regarding an inmate.

Gov. Price Daniel has said that as long as he is governor, Giles will not be granted a pardon. The governor acts on pardons after a recommendation by the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

West Carroll To Get Commodities

OAK GROVE (Special) — Commodities will be distributed to West Carroll Parish needy families beginning in January, it was decided at a meeting of the West Carroll Parish Police Jury this week.

The commodity program will be handled by the parish welfare office. Food to be given to destitute families will consist of rice, cheese, corn meal, flour and dry milk.

Satellite Failure

The "dismal failure" of the first attempt by the United States to launch an earth satellite undoubtedly caused a big wave of disappointment, not to mention disgust, to sweep over the people of this country. Yet the cause for regret may not be as great as it seems.

It can truthfully be said that it was better to have tried and failed than not to have tried.

Nothing of any great value is often achieved without trial and error. Thomas A. Edison, who was regarded as perhaps the greatest electrical wizard of all time, failed thousands of times before succeeding with some of his greatest inventions. It was his persistence as much as his genius that placed him among the greatest scientific men the world has known. Some of his greatest inventions would never have been perfected if he had given up on his 999th failure.

Although Russia has successfully launched two Sputniks, both of them far larger than that which the United States failed to get aloft, there is no way of knowing how many times Russia may have failed before it succeeded. Its jubilant announcement was made only after success had been achieved. If its first efforts were like those of the United States there was no way of knowing that such attempts had been made.

There is every reason to believe that the United States is behind only in the matter of persistent trying and effort. In spite of the fact that the general cry in this country has been that we do not have a sufficient number of engineers and scientists, there is no real evidence to bear this out. The chief support for this theory is the fact that the greater the number participating in any given effort the greater the chances are for developing talent. This holds true even in sports.

How many scientists of the type of Edison would we need to keep abreast of or ahead of Russia in scientific development. A half-dozen at most, with lesser assistants, would be enough. Thus, in the final analysis, we need quality. Some of the men with the kind of quality we need may have been overlooked or shunted aside because of political reasons.

It is undoubtedly true that this country, in recent years, has not put enough emphasis on training scientists and engineers, yet that does not seem to be the real cause of our lagging behind Russia. The real reason is that Russia has kept pounding away while we have not put forth any intensive or concentrated effort. As a matter of fact, there have been recent reports that the alleged shortage of American engineers is more imaginary than real and the supply of engineers has been gaining on the jobs.

In a way, we should thank Russia for launching two Sputniks. We should praise the American officials for making an attempted launching, even though the first effort failed and subsequent efforts may fail.

There are no greater brains in the world than those to be found in America. It is also probably true that there are no greater brains anywhere in the world than those in Russia, Germany, England and some of the smaller countries.

In a way, brains are like muscles. There is no great development without work and exercise.

The United States has been playing the part of a sleeping giant. Now, jarred by the two Russian Sputnik launchings, it is showing signs of throwing off its inertia and of developing the tremendous power of which it is capable.

Appointment of a missile program director, plans for a space research agency and the attempts to launch satellites are steps in the right direction.

Phone Tax Split

A federal-state committee recommendation, made in Washington, that the federal government kick back to the states 40 per cent of its tax on local telephone calls, so that states can take over certain functions now performed by the U. S. government, is good as far as it goes but it does not go far enough. A better plan would be to remove all federal taxation from local phone calls and to allow this revenue to be received by the states.

As far as we are able to see, there is no reason for the government to receive any tax on local phone calls, since nothing of an interstate nature is involved. The federal government should be satisfied with a share of interstate calls. The smaller the proportion of taxes received by the federal government and the larger the proportion received by the states, the better. It is only in this way that the states can continue to perform the functions that having them usurped by the federal government.

Federal aid programs that would be ended under the recommendation include those for most forms of vocational education and construction of municipal waste treatment plants. As far as we know, no federal money has ever been spent in Monroe for construction of municipal waste treatment plants. Most of the educational programs receiving federal aid probably could be operated effectively if all the tax money going to the U. S. government and then returned to the states for this purpose went directly to the states and into the educational programs.

'A National Jewel'

A spokesman for the American merchant marine said some time ago: "The carriage of our exports and imports is too critical to the health of American industry—which is, after all, the ultimate source of our defensive strength—to be entrusted to the whims, vagaries and competitive urges of foreign maritime powers. It is a national jewel far too precious for delivery by the first available messenger."

That was quoted in a speech by Rep-

The federal tax on local phone calls is now 10 per cent. It brings in about $370 million a year. Under the committee proposal, the states would get $148 million of this.

States desiring to take part in the plan would enact a four per cent tax on the phone service, which would be in addition to any tax they now levy. The federal government would then give taxpayers a credit for this four per cent paid to the states. It would then charge only six per cent instead of 10 per cent.

At the end of five years, the tax credit arrangement would end and the federal tax would formally be reduced to six per cent. States would then decide whether to keep their own four per cent tax, change it or eliminate it.

For the taxpayers, this is the part of the program that sounds the best, although there is not much likelihood that the states would eliminate the taxes if they carried on the service formerly performed by the federal government.

It is certain that the nearer we can approach a situation in which the federal government would function only in national government matters and in national defense, the farther we will be away from government centralized in Washington and from national bureaucracy or dictatorship.

The proposal to turn some of the tax money and some of the functions back to the states is a step in the right direction.

Representative Frank T. Bow, speaking at a merchant marine conference in Houston. And Mr. Bow's views are particularly significant for the reason that he is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, and hence has thoroughly looked into government policy toward our merchant marine, including the differential subsidies—subsidies which are granted in recognition of the plain fact that the cost of operating and building merchant ships here is far greater than in the other maritime nations.

Nixon Alone Younger In Ike's Succession

If President Eisenhower, for one reason or another, fails to complete the remaining years of his present term of office, one of the youngest men in history would become President of the United States—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, not yet forty-five years old.

Behind Nixon in line of succession, however, would be a group of men not only old enough to be Nixon's father, or even grandfather, but substantially older than President Eisenhower himself.

Under the new succession law enacted during the 80th Congress, when Democrat Harry S. Truman was President, but the Republicans controlled Congress, next in line to Nixon is House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Rayburn, who will be seventy-six next month, actually became a member of the House of Representatives only a few weeks after Vice President Nixon was born. He became a member of the House March 4, 1913.

Speaker Carl Hayden of Arizona, president pro tempore of the Senate, who under present law follows Speaker Rayburn in the line of succession, entered the Congress as a Representative nearly two years before Nixon was born. His continuous service, in both the House and Senate, exceeds that of Rayburn by two years. Hayden is now eighty years old.

An unusual twist in American political affairs gives veteran Speaker Rayburn top spot behind Vice President Nixon.

During the eightieth Congress, when Truman, who had been Vice President under Franklin D. Roosevelt, was a Democratic President without a Vice President, the then Republican controlled Congress decided to change the succession law. Instead of keeping the Secretary of State, then a Democrat, of course, first in line to succeed Truman, the GOP Congress amended the law to make the Speaker of the House first in succession behind the Vice President.

Under this amendment to the law, then Speaker Joseph Martin of Mass., now Republican leader of the House, would have succeeded Truman in event the Missouri Democrat had failed to fill out his term.

President Truman did not object to enactment of the amendment, even though it meant that in event of his death or complete disability, a Republican would take over the White House.

The situation is now reversed

but the law remains the same.

While the President and Vice President are Republicans, the next two men in line of succession for the presidency are Democrats.

Should neither Speaker Rayburn nor Senator Hayden qualify for the President in event a vacancy should occur at their level of succession, the line would revert to

Republicans again under the act of 1947.

Then another man older than

President Eisenhower would be

President. He is Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is sixty-nine.

Behind him, however, is a young man, and another Texan, Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson, only forty-nine years old.

This means that except for

Secretary of State Dulles whose home is in New York, all of the top men in line for the Presidency under the new succession law are from states which have never before had a president of the United States.

Herbert Hoover, who lived in California, claimed Iowa as his official home, while Eisenhower, born in Texas, campaigned as a Kansan.

Nixon, first in line, is from California. The man next to him,

Speaker Rayburn, as well as the five official in line, Secretary Andersen, are from Texas. Just behind Rayburn is Hayden of Arizona.

It is unquestionably doubtful

that any situation, barring an atomic attack on the United States which could conceivably

kill all of the above officials, the line of succession beyond this point means anything.

Nevertheless, Congress, in rewriting the original law which passed the line directly onto the Cabinet, fixed the further line of succession as follows:

Secretary of Defense, who is the youthful Ohioan Neil McElroy;

Attorney General, another new appointee, youthful William P.

Rogers of New York; Postmaster General, now held by Arthur

Summerfield of Michigan; Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton;

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T.

Benson, who hails from Utah;

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair

Weeks of Massachusetts; and then Secretary of Labor James P.

Mitchell of New Jersey.

It is unquestionably doubtful

that any situation, barring an

atomic attack on the United States which could conceivably

kill all of the above officials, the line of succession beyond this point means anything.

However, decisions have to be made. And I like to make a decision in favor of the fellow whom someone wishes to shut up. I pride myself that when Franklin D.

Roosevelt sent Earl Browder, then the communist chief, to prison,

I wrote that it was a political frame-up. I wrote the same thing when Roosevelt let Browder out, namely, that it was a political action and had nothing to do with justice. When it became fashionable to sling every arrow of blame at the heavens did not fall. In fact, we all went to lunch. Also

Notre Dame survived that discussion and put the original papers in book form, for all to read.

Those letter-writers who want me to be a bigot have the wrong lawn. On that question, I know only one side, the side of freedom.

Satellite Failure

The "dismal failure" of the first attempt by the United States to launch an earth satellite undoubtedly caused a big wave of disappointment, not to mention disgust, to sweep over the people of this country. Yet the cause for regret may not be as great as it seems.

It can truthfully be said that it was better to have tried and failed than not to have tried.

Nothing of any great value is often achieved without trial and error. Thomas A. Edison, who was regarded as perhaps the greatest electrical wizard of all time, failed thousands of times before succeeding with some of his greatest inventions. It was his persistence as much as his genius that placed him among the greatest scientific men the world has known. Some of his greatest inventions would never have been perfected if he had given up on his 999th failure.

Although Russia has successfully launched two Sputniks, both of them far larger than that which the United States failed to get aloft, there is no way of knowing how many times Russia may have failed before it succeeded. Its jubilant announcement was made only after success had been achieved. If its first efforts were like those of the United States there was no way of knowing that such attempts had been made.

There is every reason to believe that the United States is behind only in the matter of persistent trying and effort. In spite of the fact that the general cry in this country has been that we do not have a sufficient number of engineers and scientists, there is no real evidence to bear this out. The chief support for this theory is the fact that the greater the number participating in any given effort the greater the chances are for developing talent. This holds true even in sports.

How many scientists of the type of Edison would we need to keep abreast of or ahead of Russia in scientific development. A half-dozen at most, with lesser assistants, would be enough. Thus, in the final analysis, we need quality. Some of the men with the kind of quality we need may have been overlooked or shunted aside because of political reasons.

It is undoubtedly true that this country, in recent years, has not put enough emphasis on training scientists and engineers, yet that does not seem to be the real cause of our lagging behind Russia. The real reason is that Russia has kept pounding away while we have not put forth any intensive or concentrated effort. As a matter of fact, there have been recent reports that the alleged shortage of American engineers is more imaginary than real and the supply of engineers has been gaining on the jobs.

In a way, we should thank Russia for launching two Sputniks. We should praise the American officials for making an attempted launching, even though the first effort failed and subsequent efforts may fail.

There are no greater brains in the world than those to be found in America. It is also probably true that there are no greater brains anywhere in the world than those in Russia, Germany, England and some of the smaller countries.

In a way, brains are like muscles. There is no great development without work and exercise.

The United States has been playing the part of a sleeping giant. Now, jarred by the two Russian Sputnik launches, it is showing signs of throwing off its inertia and of developing the tremendous power of which it is capable.

Appointment of a missile program director, plans for a space research agency and the attempts to launch satellites are steps in the right direction.

Phone Tax Split

A federal-state committee recommendation, made in Washington, that the federal government kick back to the states 40 per cent of its tax on local telephone calls, so that states can take over certain functions now performed by the U. S. government, is good as far as it goes but it does not go far enough. A better plan would be to remove all federal taxation from local phone calls and to allow this revenue to be received by the states.

As far as we are able to see, there is no reason for the government to receive any tax on local phone calls, since nothing of an interstate nature is involved. The federal government should be satisfied with a share of interstate calls. The smaller the proportion of taxes received by the federal government and the larger the proportion received by the states, the better. It is only in this way that the states can continue to perform the functions that having them usurped by the federal government.

Federal aid programs that would be ended under the recommendation include those for most forms of vocational education and construction of municipal waste treatment plants. As far as we know, no federal money has ever been spent in Monroe for construction of municipal waste treatment plants. Most of the educational programs receiving federal aid probably could be operated effectively if all the tax money going to the U. S. government and then returned to the states for this purpose went directly to the states and into the educational programs.

A National Jewel'

A spokesman for the American merchant marine said some time ago: "The carriage of our exports and imports is too critical to the health of American industry—which is, after all, the ultimate source of our defensive strength—to be entrusted to the whims, vagaries and competitive urges of foreign maritime powers. It is a national jewel far too precious for delivery by the first available messenger."

That was quoted in a speech by Representative Frank T. Bow, speaking at a merchant marine conference in Houston. And Mr. Bow's views are particularly significant for the reason that he is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, and hence has thoroughly looked into government policy toward our merchant marine, including the differential subsidies—subsidies which are granted in recognition of the plain fact that the cost of operating and building merchant ships here is far greater than in the other maritime nations.

General Jimmy Doolittle, the old Tokyo Raider, who may be not afraid of our country's "becoming like Russia" if we adopt strong mobilization methods. Gen. Doolittle made bold to say before the Senate Preparedness Sub committee that, "Some day we are going to have the means of coordinating our planning and our operations and doing it on a more rapid basis than we are able to do today." The General meant that we need more voluntary authoritarianism, and he mentioned an old - type general (Prussian) staff," adding "We may not be ready for that because there is great fear, which I consider unwarranted, of a military hierarchy." Not long ago this column proposed that we think about "voluntary regimentation" through a "labor draft," based on aptitude and ability.

For the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath day. — Matthew 12:8.

Christ was criticized for doing good on the Sabbath. He answered His critics in the verse printed above. Being children of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ, it is certainly right and proper that we should do good deeds on Sunday. When we show concern and love and mercy for our fellowmen, we are doing the will of God. How can we help some needy, discouraged or dispirited person this weekend?

Merciful God, may we be true disciples, using sometime today and tomorrow in keeping with the example of Thy Son. In His name we pray. Amen.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Marriage Can Be Happy, Thrilling

Read Mabel's progress report after her marriage. Marriage can be a permanently happy, thrilling adventure if the two parties thereto will cooperate as a team. This involves budgeting and mutual attendance at church regularly, plus correct scientific sex techniques.

Case W-366: Mabel D., aged 28, was very uncertain whether to marry or not marry.

So I gave her a psychological push into the wedding ceremony, for she was engaged to a man who had every prospect of being a fine husband.

"Dr. Crane, marriage is simply wonderful!" Mabel exulted when I met her a couple of weeks after she had returned from the honeymoon.

"As I look back, I can't understand what made me debate and procrastinate about our wedding.

"Now I regret not having eloped a year earlier, for what you have said of marriage is true. It is certainly grand."

"It is no longer a bubbling cascade but a swift, deep river that carries you along securely toward ever increasing happiness."

Actually, Mabel isn't quite correct. Marriage has no magic in itself for the two parties to the marriage must do the planning and sacrificing and celebrating to make it such a jolly adventure.

This requires brains, plus religious idealism. You must link up together with a local church and start attending religious services even the first Sunday of your honeymoon or your marriage will never attain the mountain-top experience.

And you must be as scientific in the bedroom as in the kitchen, for most divorces start in the bedroom, partly from a wife's sins of omission.

So send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage", enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

"And we have sincerely tried to be fair and honorable and to act as a team.

"The baby, of course, has drawn us even closer together, and we hope to have several more.

"But even without any children, I would consider my marriage the most exciting and happy experience in my whole life."

Butterflies?

"But what about those butterflies?" I asked. "Prior to your marriage you said you didn't get as much romantic thrill as you felt you should when he kissed you."

"Do you get plenty of thrills now? Or do you think you become stodgy and complacent in your love life after marriage?"

Mabel smiled and blushed self-consciously.

"Dr. Crane, I think those butterflies are largely a matter of stage fright," she said.

"For the thrills of a satisfied wife are far more extensive than the mere trembling of hands or breathlessness of a kiss."

"Marriage is an educational adventure for two people instead of a brief lark under a romantic moon.

"It is no longer a bubbling cascade but a swift, deep river that carries you along securely toward ever increasing happiness."

After all as great an institution as Princeton must have had a fairly good reason for their action regarding Fr. Halton and, there are always two sides to every question, you know."

However, Army ordnance experts are scheduled to give the 2½-pound object a further examination.

The object hit the front wall of a house in which the occupants were watching television. It lodged in the wall after hitting a two-by-four.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Arras said they had their TV set tuned up loud but heard a crashing noise as the metal cylinder penetrated the wall.

Americans Must Remember Super Fuels Are Costly

Now that the world has gotten over its amazement that Russia could put sputniks in the sky before the United States it's time to look at the situation coolly.

Let's take this matter of super fuels. Or rather, let's break down the super fuel problem into its essential economics. An apt analogy would be to ask yourself a question: For a Fourth of July celebration would you rather see a display of fireworks costing $1,000 or would you rather have the $1,000 spent on one single super rocket?

The Russians quite literally chose the single rocket idea for its propaganda and political effects and it achieved these effects with devastating results.

America chose the display idea in order to benefit science through a series of experiments in space. I have no intention of belittling the Russian achievement in hurling Sputniks I and II into the sky. But it is quite evident Russia early decided to let no problem of cost interfere, whereas America was reluctant to threaten the welfare of its citizens with a crash program in which cost was a factor to reckon with.

And make no mistake, a super fuel can only be obtained at immense cost — at least until it gets into high production. Moreover, the Soviets must know that, while they have grabbed an early lead, for the long pull America's tremendous productive capacity is a force to reckon with.

Promising Fuel

American researchers right along have been experimenting with super fuels. They have explored the entire range of fuels and today it is unlikely anyone in the world can come up with a new type of fuel about which we are ignorant.

Thus scientists in this country can put their finger on the type of fuels used in launching the Russian rockets.

One promising fuel, for example, has been the boron hydrides — a somewhat oily liquid made from boron and hydrogen. The two fuels are decaborane and pentaborane. These liquids burn easily and are safe to handle. When combined with liquid oxygen they furnish a tremendous amount of energy.

But the cost! Even with several pilot plants already processing them, the liquids still cost several hundred dollars a pound! Over Vanguard rocket needs something like 15,000 pounds of fuel, and a little figuring shows Sputnik II may have used a quarter million pounds of this fuel.

The American researchers limited Vanguard to a much cheaper fuel based on our jet fuels — kerosene. This fuel furnishes 18,000 B.T.U.'s (a measure of heat) as against 28,000 B.T.U.'s for the boron hydride mixture.

No Blessing

The American need for economy was definitely not a blessing. Vanguard was designed to put a 90-pound satellite into the sky. Sputnik II put about 1,200 pounds into the sky. American scientists had to plan for a complete mini-

Charges Wonder Drugs Making Doctors Careless

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6 (UPI)—The rise of the wonder drug has made doctors less careful about germ precaution measures in hospitals and operating rooms, a Philadelphia surgeon said today.

Dr. H. Taylor Caswell of Temple University Hospital told the closing session of the American Medical Assn.'s 11th annual clinical meeting: "The medical profession has come to regard the problem of infection much less seriously than it did prior to the development of antibiotics. We are now in an era when this attitude must be changed."

Declaring that certain strains of staphylococci germs have become resistant to most of the wonder drugs and that they present "a serious problem in hospitalized patients," Dr. Caswell said: "A return to the most strict hospital techniques of sterilization is essential. Unless this is done, successful control of infections in hospital patients with antibiotic resistant staphylococci is doomed to failure."

The surgeon said, "One of the most important means of spread of the organism is by direct contact with personnel or patients with active infection or by direct contact with heavily contaminated hospital materials."

These wily bugs, he said, have been reported as sources of infections in various hospital targets including clean surgical wounds; in newborn babies as skin ailments; in nursing mothers as breast abscesses; in the respiratory tract as a form of pneumonia; and in severe types of stomach or intestinal inflammation in postoperative surgical patients.

He indicated that sharp reductions in such infections is possible.

REDS CHARGE ALLIES

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German Communist government charged today that the western allies have forfeited their right to be in Berlin. In the official 1957 yearbook of the German Democratic Republic, the Reds said the United States, Britain and France have violated Berlin's four-power status by converting West Berlin into a spy center for counter-revolution against the Soviet Zone. By doing this, they have deprived themselves of the right to stay in the divided city, the Reds said.

The question arises, of course, as to whether Russia can keep intended to be squeezed into the on using the expensive fuels with a resulting drain on the whole standardized heavier apparatus for communications equipment, and was able to add the dog, Laika.

That was because the fantastically expensive fuel raised one son Company has already announced publicly it intends to bring the price down to $1 per gallon in ten years!

Here is where America may have the edge. The Olin Mathieu and practical importance of this finding warrants immediate and extensive studies to determine the mechanism leading to the hypertension state and to determine methods by which the process may be prevented or retarded," he said.

Applicable To Humans

Dr. William W. Frye, LSU dean and Fred W. Salmon, president of the Schlieder Foundation said the money would be used to support the experimental work now being conducted by Dr. Skelton at LSU in endocrine factors concerned in the pathogenesis of hypertension.

The basic mechanism or mechanisms which cause hypertension are not known and represent one of the major objectives of modern research, Dr. Skelton explained.

Hypertension Studies

"Previous experimental work has shown that the administration of various steroid hormones can produce hypertension in laboratory animals such as the rat, and that some patients with severe essential hypertension excrete abnormal quantities of certain steroid hormones," Dr. Skelton said.

Recent studies by Dr. Skelton have shown that surgical intervention on the adrenal gland can result in hypertension disease in experimental animals.

"These observations seem to implicate the hormones secreted by the adrenal gland in the genesis of hypertension. The theoretical

Thus scientists in this country can put their finger on the type of fuels used in launching the Russian rockets.

One promising fuel, for example, has been the boron hydrides — a somewhat oily liquid made from boron and hydrogen. The two fuels are decaborane and pentaborane. These liquids burn easily and are safe to handle. When combined with liquid oxygen they furnish a tremendous amount of energy.

But the cost! Even with several pilot plants already processing them, the liquids still cost several hundred dollars a pound! Over

Vanguard rocket needs something like 15,000 pounds of fuel, and a little figuring shows Sputnik II may have used a quarter million pounds of this fuel.

The American researchers limited Vanguard to a much cheaper fuel based on our jet fuels — kerosene. This fuel furnishes 18,000 B.T.U.'s (a measure of heat) as against 28,000 B.T.U.'s for the boron hydride mixture.

No Blessing

The American need for economy was definitely not a blessing. Vanguard was designed to put a 90-pound satellite into the sky. Sputnik II put about 1,200 pounds into the sky. American scientists had to plan for a complete mini-aturization of all the radio devices and scientific paraphernalia intended to be squeezed into the satellite; Russia used fairly well standardized heavier apparatus for communications equipment, and was able to add the dog, Laika.

That was because the fantastically expensive fuel raised one and a half times the weight of our "cheap" fuel, pound for pound.

The question arises, of course, as to whether Russia can keep on using the expensive fuels with a resulting drain on the whole Soviet economy, or whether it can produce the fuel in such quantity as to bring down the cost.

Here is where America may get its inning. The Olin Matheson Company has already announced publicly it intends to bring the price down to $1 per gallon in ten years!

Metal Object Believed Part Of Airplane

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6 (UPI) — Civil Aeronautics Administration employee said today the light metal object which landed in a New Orleans home apparently came from a plane.

However, Army ordnance experts are scheduled to give the 2½-pound object a further examination.

The object hit the front wall of a house in which the occupants were watching television. It lodged in the wall after hitting a two-by-four.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Arras said they had their TV set tuned up loud but heard a crashing noise as the metal cylinder penetrated the wall.

The CAA employee said the cylinder probably dropped from the hydraulic system of a plane.

Meany also said there were indications Hoffa wanted to resign and get out of the way. But he said he and Hoffa never got together because Hoffa never showed up.

"I cooperated," Meany said. "I stood on my head, did everything possible under the sun."

Won't Quit

Hoffa said in New York, however, that he had no intention of resigning as president-elect. "Why should I quit?" he said.

The overtures for compromise fell through, Meany said, when he became convinced that Hoffa did not plan to do anything.

The last attempt for a meeting between himself and Hoffa, Meany said came at 10:40 last night when a Teamster delegation called and said Hoffa was on the telephone and ready to come to Atlantic City.

Meany said he asked the delegation to get a commitment from Hoffa and bring it to the convention.

Then Meany quoted the Teamster spokesman as saying: "No, we can't try that, because we might repudiate us. We don't trust him."

One of the conditions for the Teamsters to remain in the federation was for Hoffa to step down as president-elect of the million-and-a-half-member union.

The expulsion climaxed sensational testimony before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee linking Hoffa, outgoing Teamster President Dave Beck and other union leaders with misuse of vast sums of union funds and association with racketeers.

Beck is on trial in Seattle on larceny charges while Hoffa, Beck and the Teamsters are under federal trial in Washington on charges of rigging the election at the Teamsters' October convention to insure Hoffa the top post.

Meany indicated that no new Teamsters' Union would be set up within the federation as the old AFL had done with the International Longshoremen after their expulsion in 1953.

"I want to say to you here and now," Meany said, "that I am for the Teamsters and for the Teamster members. ... There is no attempt of any sort, and no plan at all, for a war with the Teamsters; knowledge he had been hired as an organizer and strong-arm picket but refused to say whether he ever had seen Evans or beaten him up. Ellis invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer dozens of questions on the ground his testimony might "incriminate me."

"It is a fact it would incriminate you," said Chairman McClellan D-Ark.

'Goon' Category

McClellan told Ellis that by refusing to answer questions "you place yourself in the category of one of these professional goons who hire to go around and beat people up."

Ellis said he now works for the Kroger Co. in Nashville.

4. Detective John T. Reynolds of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, when questioned about the Smith shooting, said: "We more or less keep out of union trouble as much as possible." Reynolds said political reasons may have been one explanation of the way he handled the investigation.

Part of the story about the SMIT incident came from Mrs. Lola Freels, who said she was "terminated" in November 1956 as secretary-bookkeeper for the Knoxville Teamsters local.

Mrs. Freels recounted that Smith was wounded accidentally while shooting at truckers. She said he had been brought to Knoxville from Nashville for the shootings by W. J. Reynolds, president, and Hubert L. Payne, treasurer of the Knoxville local. The committee said Reynolds was not related to Detective Reynolds.

Mrs. Freels said a gun was kept in the local's safe and "sometimes one business agent would come in and get it, sometimes another."

She said the gun disappeared the night Smith used it, and never was returned.

"After hard-hearing Smitty come back to the office—from the hospital," she said, Smith and Reynolds joked about his accidental wound.

She quoted Smith as saying to the union local president: "Reynolds I believe you shot me."

She said Reynolds and Payne agreed it was "a good thing" that one of the bullets fired at a truck driver had hit the steering wheel.

"Otherwise it would have killed the driver," she quoted them as saying.

Detective Reynolds testified this bullet fell harmlessly to the floor of the truck cab, but he was never able to trace it.

Reynolds said that when he questioned Smith about being shot, the union official told him he had been wounded accidentally by a friend. He quoted Smith as saying "there was no law against being shot."

McClellan commented that a Smith's admission to the Maryville Hospital made it "perfectly obvious" that Smith was in the area at the time the two truck drivers were shot at.

Reynolds said Smith "refused to talk."

Mrs. White kindly lists articles that are suited to the requirements of patients in the hospital ward thus: Flashlights, small thermos bottles, or boxed candy, cigarette lighters, shaving sets, razors, pen and pencil sets, canteen books, billfolds, socks, belts, bedroom sippers, T-shirts and books of postage stamps.

Interesting

Mrs. Little Furey, 1807 Jackson street, every now and then takes a trip to see children and grandchildren. This time she was privileged to see for the first time a great granddaughter, Jo Ann Furey, her grandson's daughter in Memphis, Tenn. While there she witnessed the great Cotton Carnival Parade, and saw many interesting sights in and around Memphis.

She is highly active for a great grandmother and delights in donating fancy hand made aprons which she makes in spare time at home and delights to pass out to relatives and friends.

Hosts

The laymen of West Monroe's First Methodist Church will serve as hosts to 39 orphan boys from the Methodist Children's Home in Ruston on Monday night, December 16. An elaborate Christmas program is being scheduled.

Little Deborah Slakter, of Bon Air Drive, has written Santa Claus, North Pole, for what she wants for Christmas. Here is her letter: "Dear Santa Claus: If you think I have been good enough here are some things I would like: Jerry Mahony dummy, two stuffed animals, rocking cradle, plastic bricks, doll carriage, slinky, Ginette baby doll and things to go with it."

She said Reynolds is saying to the union local president: "Reynolds I believe you shot me."

She said Reynolds and Payne agreed it was "a good thing" that one of the bullets fired at a truck driver had hit the steering wheel.

"Otherwise it would have killed the driver," she quoted them as saying.

Holiday Tree Sales Started By Optimists

Little Michael Campbell asks Santa Claus:

"My name is Michael Campbell. I want a space helmet and a flying model airplane."

Request

Members of the Monroe Optimist Club will begin the annual Christmas tree sale here today at 9:30 a.m., chairman Rudy Taichman announced last night.

Club members last night made preparation on the tree lot, located at the corner of North Third and Arkansas. The lot will open at 9:30 a.m. and close at 9:30 p.m. daily.

Proceeds from the trees will go toward funds for boys' work in Monroe, including the supporting of the Baby Ruth League.

Taichman said the club received approximately 2,300 trees and explained that the Optimists "have a tree for every family."

He urged persons interested in boys' activities in Monroe to "come by the lot and look our stock over."

A house-to-house sale will be made Tuesday night, beginning at 6 p.m. Members of the Optimist Club and the West Monroe Rebels will meet at Neville High School.

TREES DESTROYED

City Police yesterday were checking the destruction of the newly planted trees along Spencer Boulevard. The trees, part of a civic beautification program, were being removed almost as fast as they were planted. Officials said no estimate could be given on the number actually destroyed because some of them had been salvaged.

U.S. Revises Its Travel Ban On Red China

(Continued From Page One) visit their kin. However, the department said the Communists had "expressed willingness" to permit such visits on various occasions.

The new decision regarding the relatives of prisoners was disclosed in a letter to Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.). One of the prisoners, Richard G. Fecteau, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Fecteau of Lynn, Mass.

Fecteau and John T. Downey, son of Mrs. Mary V. Downey of New Britain, Conn., were civilian employees of the Army who disappeared on a flight from Korea, to Japan in November, 1952.

The Chinese Communists later announced their arrest on spy charges. Downey was sentenced to life imprisonment and Fecteau to 20 years at peiping.

The other prisoners are:

Robert McCann, husband of Mrs. Flora McCann, Altadena, Calif. An American businessman, he was arrested June 14, 1951, and sentenced to 15 years in jail at Tientsin.

The Rev. Joseph P. McCormack, brother of Edward McCormack, Palmyra, N. Y. A Catholic priest of the Maryknoll order, he was arrested June 15, 1951, and sentenced to five years imprisonment at Shanghai.

Hugh F. Redmond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Redmond, Yonkers, N. Y. A businessman, he was arrested April 21, 1951 and sentenced to life imprisonment at Shanghai.

Rev. John P. Wagner, brother of Mrs. Joseph Kleber, Glenshaw, Pa. A Catholic priest of the Franciscan order, he was arrested June 15, 1953 and sentenced to five years in jail in Shanghai.

The city has found Mr. Judell accurate and competent before," Howard stated. "There should be no question now concerning the financial structure of the proposed bond issue."

The capital improvement program calls for street work, drainage, underpasses, recreational facilities, a new city hall and municipal auditorium.

"Mr. Judell and his partners have assured us that the City of Monroe is in an excellent position to finance all phases of the program with the $9-million bonds.

He is highly active for a great grandmother and delights in donating fancy hand made aprons which she makes in spare time at home and delights to pass out to relatives and friends.

Owners Assured

"Since the property owners have been assured that the program will cost no more than three additional mills — and assured by an expert who has no ties with this city administration — I see no reason why the program can't be passed in full," Howard stated.

The issue will be presented to the voters in five phases. Howard said the program "should be passed in full provided the property owners look on it as a progressive step."

He again pointed out that Monroe has not had major improvements, excluding schools and the light and water systems, in 37 years.

In referring to Judell's presentation, Howard emphasized that the bonding attorney told the group the bonds would be sold at approximately 4.5 per cent interest.

He pointed out that the City of Ruston sold over $2-million worth of bonds Thursday for a little less than 4.5 per cent. The bonds were sold by Judell's firm.

The girls' bodies were taken to the Jones Funeral Home. Funeral services were incomplete last night.

Rockets Fired In Napoleonic Wars

By ALBIN KREBS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (UPI)—Rocket scientists and engineers who think they're fooling around with the latest thing in weapons may be startled to learn that it isn't so.

Rockets are old hat.

An article in the July, 1854, issue of Harper's magazine shows conclusively that when it comes to rocketry, there's really nothing new under the Sputnik.

They didn't call them by impressive names like Matador and Atlas and Jupiter and Titan, or even Bazooka, but it seems that "Rockets, considered as projectile weapons, were of great antiquity in India and China."

Fired in Napoleonic Wars.

The unsigned Harper's article, written 103 years ago, revealed that big rockets were first used by warships in 1806 at Boulogne, during the Napoleonic wars.

"It was less than half an hour after the commencement of the attack," the article said, "that the town was observed to be on fire in many places, and the damage effected was doubtless very great... Lord Lauderdale, while passing through Boulogne shortly after the attack, was vigilantly watched, lest he might observe the extent of the ravage."

Copenhagen was the target of "very heavy rockets" lobbed from ships in 1807. The new and much-feared weapons were used in many land battles, among these the Battle of Waterloo, where rockets wrecked "sad havoc" and helped give Napoleon his comeuppance.

The rockets of that time were 8 to 10 feet high and weighed up to 300 pounds. The anonymous writer of the Harper's article observed that "very pretty visitors these to come hissing into the midst of a town!"

Used Chinese Principles.

In pre-Civil War days, war rockets were called "Congreve rockets," after their developer and ardent exponent, Sir William Congreve. This gentleman, a sort of latter-day Werner von Braun, modestly insisted that all he did was perfect the rocket principles of the Chinese.

The Harper's writer agreed Congreve was only tinkering with somebody else's ideas. There was, after all, "undoubted testimony" that the rocket used as a military weapon was known in Europe before the latter part of the 16th Century."

No Buyers For Oil

HOUSTON, Dec. 6 (UPI)—A total of 1,000 barrels of oil produced by a well on the city-owned prison farm have piled up because there are no buyers.

that President Eisenhower has reaffirmed his stand that Texas ownership of the tidelands extends three marine leagues, or about 10 and one-half miles from shore.

Porter said he wrote Eisenhower and the President reaffirmed his position on the tidelands issue in a letter dated Dec. 4. Porter said he wrote the President because of "newspaper headlines that claimed Ike had turned his back on the Texas tidelands."

The President's letter said in part:

"It has been and still is my considered view that Texas should have the right to explore and exploit those submerged lands which extend seaward for a distance of three marine leagues."

Mildred Green, postmaster and chairman of the Christmas Festival committee, said the Natchitoches Garden Club will continue the festivities with a flower show scheduled to be held in the historic Lemee house tonight and Sunday.

Members of the press will be seated with a buffet supper at the Natchitoches Elks Club, following the Yule activities.

Event theme this year is "Joy To The World," and officials are hoping that this theme can be spread among the thousands of visitors in Natchitoches today.

Fireworks Display

The 60,000 persons expected to be on hand will view a fireworks display, to be followed by the lighting of the Christmas lights in the business district of the city, and along the river bank.

"I must say it is regrettable that Congress did not follow the administration's recommendations for making this clear but instead left the law ambiguous so that the matter had to be litigated."

Representatives from Shreveport, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Bogalusa, Natchez, Miss., and Vicksburg, as well as Monroe, are participating in the confab.

"Do We Dare To Be Christian?" is the theme of the meeting.

Terry White of the Slade Hi-Y at Neville High School will lead a discussion this morning on "Do We Dare To Be Christian in Social Activities?" Tommy Caldwell, of the Lanier Thompson Hi-Y, also at Neville, will participate in a panel discussion this afternoon, and Allen Trousdale, also of the Thompson Chapter at Neville will report on the national congress of the Hi-Y, held at Oxford, Ohio, last summer. Trousdale is the state delegate for the congress.

Those taking part in the conference from the McCranie Hi-Y chapter at Ouachita Parish High at Ken Renwick, Johnny Luton, Bill Lane, Jerry Thomas and Wayne Ship.

Palibearers will be Dr. Henson Coon, Dr. C. P. Gray, Dr. Hunter Mullis, L. F. Taylor, George Wimbish and William Patterson, all of Monroe, Frank Stevens of Alexandria, and W. B. Swayne of Baton Rouge.

George Forman, vice-president of the southern area leaders training congress, is a member of the Thompson chapter at Neville also.

Leaders from the Twin Cities Y groups who are attending the Mississippi meet are Miss Josephine McCranie, Ouachita Parish High; Miss Bebe Sharp, executive secretary of the YWCA; Bob McKeye, associate youth secretary of the YMCA; Bill Robinson, youth secretary of the YMCA, and Charles A. Wood Jr., general secretary of the Twin Cities YMCA.

Naturopaths Named In Suit By Will Wilson

AUSTIN, Dec. 6 (UP)—Attorney General Will Wilson today filed a suit to knock the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Association, out of business.

District Judge Jack Roberts signed a temporary restraining order barring the association from doing business and directing disposition of its assets.

The U.S. Supreme Court has sustained a lower court holding that the state law under which the naturopaths operated was illegal. As a result, Wilson said, the corporation's purposes "have been exhausted and are now inconsistent with and in violation of the laws of Texas."

Earlier this week individual suits charging illegal practice were filed against more than 60 of the estimated 100 naturopaths operating in Texas.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Ozark Town Is A Flowery Spot

MENSHO, Mo. (UP) — This place has blossomed into the floweriest town in the Ozarks. Inspired by a civic beautification program, 3,000 flower boxes were set out by the 6,500 residents.

There are flowers galore. Blos-soms grow out of trash containers, baskets of artificial posies swing from lamp posts; vase-like containers and custom-made boxes, filled with flowers, stand in front of offices, factories and filling stations.

Free loan, mixed with fertilizer, is offered to the flower-growers by the city government. Business firms also help. One milk plant gave away 400 barrels for containers. A lumber firm designed low-cost window boxes. A florist offered to sell 200,000 plants at wholesale prices.

"The Flower Box City" has spruced itself up in other ways. Spots that were eye-sores have been cleaned up; businesses and homes repainted and repaired and yards and vacant lots carefully cut.

About 30 scenes from the life of Christ will be depicted by various floats entered by churches, civic clubs, and other groups. Chick Ellis is coordinator of this.

TWO FROM TECH

Driskill Of Northeast On All-Gulf Grid Team

By JAMES SAGGUS
(The Associated Press)

Two backs and a massive line-man hold places on the Associated Press all-Gulf States Conference football team for the second straight year.

The backs are hard-running

Charlie Tolar of Northwestern State and flash Rogers Hampton of McNeese and the linemen is bruising tackle Tommy Hinton of Louisiana Tech.

Northwestern landed four berths on the first team, while McNeese got three and Louisiana Tech two.

NO. 1 CITY

Auburn To Get Big AP Trophy

AUBURN, Ala., Dec. 6 (AP)—Auburn, home of the 1957 national football champion Auburn Tigers, will be the "No. 1" city of the United States Tuesday.

That's when Ted Smits, Associated Press sports editor, will present the AP trophy to the Tigers in recognition of their selection as America's top football team.

The Chamber of Commerce today announced plans for a city-wide celebration in recognition of the honor for their unbeaten, untied squad.

Streamers saying "No. 1 football" will be mounted in the downtown area. A big "No. 1" will be painted on store display windows. A large roadside sign will greet

Billy Talbert
Forced To Use
Aces In Davis

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 7 Saturday (UP)—With a berth in the Interzone final against Belgium already clinched, U. S. Davis Cup Captain Billy Talbert was thwarted today in his effort to use the final two matches against the Philippines as tune-ups.

Sticking with the original plan, Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., faced Felicissimo Ampon and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia met Raymundo Deyro today at the Memorial Drive courts.

But these matches already were meaningless, since the United States had a 3-0 clinching lead in the best-of-five series.

The series victory was assured Thursday when 34-year-old Seixas and 44-year-old Gardnar Mullen of Denver, routed Ampon and Deyro in doubles, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. The United States thus qualified to meet Belgium in the Interzone final at Brisbane next week, Dec. 12-14, with a berth in the challenge round against Australia at stake.

Talbert, who admits the Belgian series will be "a lot tougher," wanted to substitute Mullen for Seixas in today's concluding match. Mullen arrived in Australia later than the other Yanks and needs a little more conditioning.

But the poor ticket sale for this series blocked Talbert's plans.

Talbert was told that organizers of the series are afraid to jeopardize today's gate by taking Seixas' name off the list of those to appear. Only 1,700 fans saw Thursday's doubles match in the 6,500-seat arena.

Delhi Trounces Coushatta, 20-7

DELHI, La. (Special) — The Delhi Bears downed Coushatta's Choctaws, 20 to 7, here last night in the bi-district playoff for the Class B football title. Coach Raymond Richards' Bruins netted ten first downs to Coach Gene Knecht's Choctaws' six.

Francis Copes started the Delhi scoring with a drive from the one early in the second quarter after a brilliant 40-yard dash by Bobby Leach set up the score. Leach kicked for the conversion.

A first-down pass by Charles Simmons, caught by Leach in the endzone late in the second period, was good for 19 yards and the second Delhi touchdown. Leach missed the kick and the half ended, 13-0.

A Delhi fumble, recovered by Walter Weaver on the Bear 25 late in the third stanza, set up the Choctaw touchdown which was punched over by Emmett Eddy from the six. A pass from Albert Slet to Donnie Kelley scored the extra point.

Bobby Leach made the final Bruin touchdown midway of the fourth quarter on a left sweep from four yards out, then kicked successfully for the extra point.

Issac Logart

Wins Decision Over Ortega

Over Ortega

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press Sports Writer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Dec. 6 (UP)—

The major leagues, in a whirlwind of activity, today officially killed the controversial bonus rule, set up the unrestricted four-year draft and then suspended action on the touchy question of New York territorial rights.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick ruled against making the bonus rule retroactive — meaning that all bonus players on current major league rosters will remain bonus players until their four-year period expires.

The National League voted 6-2 in favor of making the rule retroactive and the American League 5-3 for doing away entirely with the bonus rule immediately.

Throughout the bout shorter Logart's crisp, tight hooks landed the most and did the most damage as he out-fought his taller, rangier opponent.

Logart weighed 143 pounds; Ortega 145½.

Logart, favored at 6-5, evaded his series of four bouts with Gaspar, who had won two of their previous three encounters.

The three ring officials favored the Cuban Ike on a five-point basis as follows: Referee Mike Minnich, 56-50; Judge Bill Tomson, 55-52 and Judge Herb Williams, 55-54.

TWO FROM TECH

Driskill Of Northeast On All-Gulf Grid Team

By JAMES SAGGUS
(The Associated Press)

Two backs and a massive line-man hold places on the Associated Press' all-Gulf States Conference football team for the second straight year.

The backs are hard-running

Charlie Tolar of Northwestern State and flash Rogers Hampton of McNeese and the lineman is bruising tackle Tommy Hinton of Louisiana Tech.

Northwestern landed four backs on the first team, while McNeese got three and Louisiana Tech two.

The three teams shared the GSC championship.

Rounding out the first team line are ends Joe Driskill of Northeast State and Billy Booth of Northwestern, tackle Dick Salley of McNeese State, guards Ken Bailey of Southeastern and Allen Stough of Tech and center Fred Wyble of Northwestern.

In the backfield, Charles Hennigan of Northwestern joins Hampton at halfback and Bob Morris of McNeese is at quarterback.

The team, selected after a poll of GSC coaches, also includes two players up from last year's second team—Driskill and Salley.

Tolar was the leading scorer in the GSC with 60 points and the top ground gainer with 818 yards on 99 carries. His 818 yards he had none passing—also topped the GSC in total offense. Morris is ranked third in total offense with 687 yards, 27 by passing and 408 by running. Hennigan was the third-ranking rushing star with 458 yards and Hampton the fifth with 450.

Morris and Hampton both punted, with Hampton leading the conference on a 39.1-yard average. Morris averaged 34.3 yards. Morris completed 20 of his 43 passing attempts, three times for scores.

Hennigan and Booth shared the pass receiving lead with 12 catches, while Driskill caught seven for a team that didn't throw much.

Hinton and Salley, bruisers packing 230 pounds, are aggressive forwards and the middle-weight guards have a lot of mobility. Bailey is a placekicking specialist and made 11 of 14 conversion tries this year. Wyble is a fine linebacker.

The second team is made up of Billy Sheehey of Northwestern and Gene Gibson of McNeese at ends, Charles Johnson and Bert Heckel of Northwestern at tackles. Bobby Tackett of Northwestern and Wilridge Doucet of McNeese at guards, George Thomas of Southeastern at center, Jim McCabe of Tech at quarterback, Don Reynolds of Northeast and Frank Foreman of Southwestern Louisiana Institute at halfbacks and Wayne Dugas of Southeastern fullback.

Travelers with "Welcome to Auburn—Home of the 1957 National Football Champions."

The AP trophy will be presented at ceremonies in Cliff Hare Stadium at 11 a.m. Tuesday. Smits will also present an all-America certificate to end Jimmy Phillips.

A parade featuring bands and pretty sponsors will roll through the business section and then move on to the stadium for the ceremony.

The Chamber of Commerce has asked merchants to close their doors during the presentation. Auburn—or Alabama Polytechnic Institute which is the school name—will dismiss students from classes so they can attend the ceremony.

1400 JACKSON ST.</p

With winter waters flooding the area, northeast Louisiana's so-called 31,000 ducks have scattered to the four winds. Few hunters have cornered 'em long enough to do too much good.

The duck hunting was fairly good at the beginning of the week, but as the days drew on bluebird weather set in and the ducks almost disappeared from the scene.

There have been few ducks on Black Bayou and not many more on Wham Brake. However, champ Eddie Holmes and Bert Williams each got the limit.

The reports from East Carroll and the Delta were no better. Cold weather is expected to bring 'em down.

QUAIL HUNTING

Last weekend ushered in the 1957-58 quail season and from all reports, the first week was good despite boggy fields and water in the woods.

Good-sized coevies were caught feeding in the fields where walking was rough for the hunter because of the wet conditions. However, the fields were reportedly drying up later in the week.

In Franklin parish, where the bird season was the best in the area last year, Roy Stapp and Buddy Erskine had good days, as well as ace marksman Bubba Nielsen. Bubba said all the coevies he found were large in number. He explained that the hunters in general were reporting a great number of coevies.

Johnny Balance, who learned to hunt birds in the hill country and who can just about outwalk a dog, was unable to finish out the opening week—because of a new addition to his family. And now he'll have a partner.

DEER HUNTING

Deer hunting reports continued to vary through the week, but the most surprising results came from Morehouse parish.

Game Agent Day P. Mayor estimated between 125 and 150 deer have been killed in Morehouse, in both wards 2 and 9. Mayor said the best hunting had been done around the Paw-Paw area, but explained that the area next to the Arkansas line on Chemin-A-Haut was good also.

The kill in Tensas has been normal, but in neighboring Madison the reports were better. We imagine the McLemore camp has been hottest in the entire area where 24 deer were killed the first two days.

Elsewhere, Capt. Hartwell Love at Ferriday said the high water made it pretty difficult to drop a buck. He said the bucks traveled in the water as soon as they were jumped.

Capt. Jesse Peyton reported 23 deer were killed in Franklin parish the first two days. From Franklin came the report of one of the largest deer killed anywhere. E. A. Byrgeon dropped him, weighing 224 pounds with four points. He killed him in Tensas.

There were 25 deer killed the first three days on the Catahoula Game Refuge in Winn and Grant parishes, seven killed the first several days in Jackson next to the Ouachita line, 87 dropped the first four days in the Red Dirt area of Natchitoches parish and 12 killed on opening day in Union parish.

Youngest success story of the week came from West Monroe where 12-year-old Rusty Rabun, modern-day off-spring of a long line of Union outdoorsman, killed a spike buck in Madison parish. He even bested pop Doc.

Jack Rushing's 15-year-old son, Ronnie Rushing, of Monroe had a six-pointer in Madison.

In East Carroll, about 18 deer have been killed, eight at Possum Point Lodge. Sylva Bayles also reports a 240-pound six-point buck killed on Henderson Island.

There were 11 deer reported killed in West Carroll the first three days of the season. Sonny Newell got one of 'em and so did J. A. Williamson. J. A. killed an eight-pointer.

R. S. Smith of Ferriday was enroute to work from Waterproof to Ferriday when he spotted a nine-point buck on the Old Texas road. He climbed out of his car, slipped back into the field and returned the mighty hunter.

At random, Charles Elliott of Monroe killed a buck and the successful Morehouse hunters included Pat Jones, Huey Perry, Mrs. Shirley Wells, Jerry Watson and Leon Doles.

The Buddy Adams party of Winnsboro have killed at least six and T. B. Dickey of Winnsboro bagged a four-pointer.

Those from the Winnfield area who brought 'em back included Don Walsh, Walter Sims, Wilson Cox and Harvey Jordan.

SQUIRREL, RABBIT, DOVE HUNTING

While most of the hunting was concentrated against the buck, there were a few out after squirrels, rabbits and doves.

In Ouachita parish, Game Agent Frank Swayze says the squirrel hunting has improved, that the dove hunting is poor and the rabbit hunting excellent.

Successful squirrel hunters included Frank Swayze, Jr., six; Bob Baker, five, of Winnfield; Louie McWilliams, eight, of Lake Providence.

We understand the doves are being found around the corn and soybean fields. This season's doves are full grown, fat and sassy. The rabbits, reportedly are being found in great numbers.

VENISON RECIPE

The following way of preparing venison was submitted by Vera Chambers:

For every four pounds of venison to be used as a roast, use $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of sherry wine, 1 tablespoon full of coarse-ground black pepper. Place roast in deep container, add wine and pepper and marinate overnight in refrigerator. When ready to cook, pre-heat oven to 325 degrees, lift roast from container, drain and blot dry. Put $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of peanut oil in iron kettle, heat to slight smoke and sear meat on all sides. Drain half fat, add marinating juice, add four tablespoons of flour to top of roast, teaspoon of sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of salt, bake to preferred doneness. For super gravy, add marinating juice with one can of mushroom soup and serve on side."

Franklin Falls To St. Francis In Playoff Tilt

FRANKLIN, La., Dec. 6 (AP) — St. Francis of Houma put together drives of 80 and 30 yards tonight to take a 13-0 victory over Franklin in a class A bi-district playoff contest.

The first drive came in the second period, with halfback G. L. Gauthreaux capping the long march with a one-yard burst. In the third period Herman Pellegrin climaxed a shorter march on a one-yard sneak.

Franklin had two touchdowns nullified. The first came after a blocked punt picked up by guard William James, but an offside penalty nullified it. The second was in the final period on an 88-yard dash by Carol Miguez, whose fine sprint was brought back for a clipping penalty.

ISTROUMA NIPS WARREN EASTON ON 1ST DOWNS

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 6 (AP) — Istrouma, defending triple-A champion, tonight advanced into the state semifinals by the margin of eight first downs to five in a 7-7 tie with Warren Easton, the New Orleans public school champion.

Their tasks, presumably, are to develop winning teams — something J. B. "Ears" Whitworth and Chuck Mather failed to do at those institutions. The records show that five new coaches succeed in this job without taking a few years to round up fresh playing talent.

Out of 22 coaches who started new jobs at major colleges during the past season, only one was notably successful, seven won their victory over Mer Rouge with 17 points while Dawson had the same number for the losers. Elliot of Cleveland scored 27 points to lead the scoring in the Mississippians' win over West Monroe and Chapman sank 18 points for the West Monroe team.

TODAY'S GAMES:

Coaches Start Ride On Merry-Go-Round

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP) — The annual football coaching merry-go-round began to turn this season when two losers gave up the reins at the end of the season and two winners "went home" to try to perform a feat very few have accomplished.

Paul "Bear" Bryant, whose Texas A&M team won eight of 10 games last season, left a 10-year contract unfinished to return to Alabama and Jack Mitchell (6-4 at Arkansas) left to take the head job at Kansas. Each explained he desired to return to his home state.

Their tasks, presumably, are to develop winning teams — something J. B. "Ears" Whitworth and Chuck Mather failed to do at those institutions. The records show that five new coaches succeed in this job without taking a few years to round up fresh playing talent.

Out of 22 coaches who started new jobs at major colleges during the past season, only one was notably successful, seven won more games than they lost and seven managed to win only one game apiece.

Darrell Royal, a good looking, swift moving young Oklahoman, left the University of Washington after only one year to succeed Ed Price as Texas coach. In his first season there he developed a tough, scrappy team that won 6 games, lost 3 and tied 1, took second place in the Southwest Conference and earned an invitation to the Sugar Bowl.

That was an achievement most coaches regard as bordering on the miraculous.

At Boston University Steve Sinker inherited a squad that departing Buff Donelli considered the best he had assembled there and had a 6-3 record in 1957.

Donelli, taking over at Columbia as successor to retired Lou Little, produced an upset victory in the first game and then lost eight straight.

Other first year coaches who were moderately successful included Frank Broyles, Missouri (5-4-1), Eddie Teague, The Citadel (5-4-1), Hal Lahar, Houston (5-4-1), Harry Lerche, Toledo (5-4) Bob Devaney, Wyoming (4-3-3) and Bill Meek, Southern Methodist (4-4-1).

Jim Myers, Iowa State (4-5-1), Milt Dreher, Williams and Mary (4-6), John Yovicins, Harvard (3-5) and Fred Rice, Colgate (3-6) were regarded as having done outstanding coaching jobs by winning as many games as they did. Others in this category included Merle Schlosser, Western Michigan (3-4-1); Jerry Carle, Colorado College (3-5), and Jim Owens, Washington (3-6).

Phil Dickens, who left Wyoming in an effort to rehabilitate Indiana's football fortunes, probably took the toughest blows. Before the season started he was suspended for a year because of recruiting activities and he had to look on while the Hoosiers, under acting Coach Bob Hicks, lost eight of nine games.

Istrouma, trailing in first downs 4-2 in the scoreless first half, picked up five on a third period drive and had a total of eight while Easton made only one in the second half.

Easton made the initial touch-down early in the third quarter after Jack Corcoran intercepted Lynn Amedee's pass and returned it from the Istrouma 35 to the 16. Bobby Terrell then passed down the middle to Malcolm Bech in the end zone. Terrell converted.

Istrouma drove 65 yards in 18 plays for the tying touch-down later in the period. After the thrust seemed stopped on Easton's five, Amedee shot a fourth-down pass off a spread formation to fullback Don Smith in the end zone.

Smith kicked against a strong wind to tie the score.

Istrouma will play Fair Park next week in the semifinals. Fair Park drew a first-round bye. The winner plays LaGrange on 1st round.

HOMER SHADES PINEVILLE REBS IN 6-0 CONTEST

HOMER, La., Dec. 6 (AP) — Homer turned a blocked punt into a touch-down tonight to produce a 6-0 victory over Pineville in a class double-A first round playoff game.

Edward Ellis blocked a punt on the 20 and guard Herman Coleman recovered on the six. Sammy Camp circled end from two yards out for the touchdown that moved Homer into the semifinals against Istrouma.

Smith kicked against a strong wind to tie the score.

Istrouma will play Fair Park next week in the semifinals. Fair Park drew a first-round bye. The winner plays LaGrange on 1st round.

EUNICE HANDED WIN AFTER TIE WITH RESERVE

EUNICE, La., Dec. 6 (AP) — Eunice and Reserve battled to a 19-19 tie in the first round of the class AA playoffs tonight, but Eunice moved into the semi-finals by winning a 21-5 edge in first downs.

Clyde Fruge, Herman Smith and Ronald Andrus tallied for Eunice while Bud Catoire scored twice and Rod Millet once for Reserve.

Late in the game, Istrouma took the ball on downs on the Easton 16 and Amedee passed to Gene Burleson who caught the ball just out of the end zone.

Eunice will meet Morgan City's District 5 titleholders next week.

Grambling Five

In Finals With

Texas Southern

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) Grambling College and Texas Southern gained the finals of the Grambling basketball tournament here last night when host Grambling beat Wiley, 71-66, and Texas Southern Spiked Jackson (Miss.) State, 83-69. Grambling and Texas Southern play tonight for the championship after Wiley and Jackson clash in the consolation.

Robert Bobbitt led Texas Southern with 34 points last night, and Jerry Barr fired Grambling with 22. Leading scorers for the losers were Jesse Downey, 14, Jackson State, and Charles Harper, 18, Wiley.

REDEMPTORIST EASILY BEATEN BY LaGRANGE

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 6 (AP) — Landry Memorial of Lake Charles moved into the class A semi-final playoffs by defeating Oakdale 19-13 tonight on fullback Marion Landry's three-touchdown performance.

The triumph was the 11th straight for the undefeated Lake Charles squad and qualified Landry to meet Tallulah next Friday.

Landry took the lead in the first period when the 185-pound Landry cracked over right tackle for 43 yards and a touchdown. But Oakdale bounced back on a 20-yard touchdown play from quarterback Maxie Hayes to end Earl Ware and moved ahead on Pete Golden's conversion.

Landry went 83 yards in six plays for its second touchdown with Landry again hitting tackle and galloping 50 yards.

But Oakdale went ahead in the third period when Hayes tossed to Ware on a 55-yard scoring play.

Landry converted a poor Oakdale punt into the winning touchdown. John Havens kicked from his own nine and the ball went out of bounds on the Oakdale 24. Landry scored from the 12 four plays later and Larry Ogea went over left tackle for the extra point.

The Redemptorist touchdown came in the second period on a 63-yard pass play from Morris Powell to Wayne Juneau. Lester Mitts converted.

Gay Vista 1st In Louisiana Orange Event

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6 (UPI) — Gay Vista, the Australian sprint champion running his second race in the United States, won the $2,200 Louisiana Orange Festival Purse at the Fair Grounds today.

Jockey Billy Phelps kept the 7-year-old gelding ahead all the way in the six furlongs event and finished two and a half lengths in front of Leather Kid. First Rascal was third.

Gay Vista, owned by Triple C. Stables of New Orleans and trained by Charles C. Calvin, ran in his first American race last Thanksgiving at the Fair Grounds' season opener, coming in third.

The winner, timed in 1:12.3, paid $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20. Leather Kid paid $3.20 and $2.60 and the show spot $2.60.

Betting totaled $364,553 by 7,759 fans.

Pitt 6-Point Choice Over Miami Today

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6 (UPI) — The University of Pittsburgh was rated a six point favorite over the University of Miami today as the football teams prepared for tomorrow afternoon's clash in the Orange Bowl.

Both squads tapered off with light workouts. Miami, outweighed by about 25 pounds per man, has been concentrating on passing and is expected to abandon its usual reliance on its ground game.

The game, which begins at 4 p.m. (EST), will be televised by NBC.

Both Miami coach Andy Gustafson and Pittsburgh coach John Michelosen agreed line play is likely to be the deciding factor in the game.

"The team with the toughest line will win this one," Michelosen said.

The Pitt Panthers appeared pleased with the opportunity to practice outdoors.

"The weather's been so bad at home that we had to work indoors for the past two days," said coach Michelosen. "You can't kick or pass in a field house."

Miami has won four this season, lost four and tied one. Pitt has a record of four victories and five defeats.

The Hurricanes and Panthers have met four times previously and each has won two of the encounters. Miami never has beaten Pitt in the Orange Bowl and the Panthers always have lost on their home grounds.

Jackson Hosts Junior College Stars Tonight

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 6 (UPI) — East meets West tomorrow night in the second annual All-American, All-Star junior college charity football game in Hinds Memorial Stadium.

Top-notch players from throughout the nation comprised the two teams, coached in the East by coach Joe Renfro of state champion Pearl River junior college and on the West by coach Sammy Baugh of Hardin-Simmons (Tex.) College.

The festivities, sponsored by the Clarion-Ledger and Daily News, begins with an afternoon parade through Jackson's business district and a pre-game program of pretty girls and marching bands.

The half-time ceremonies include more bands and performing girls and coronation of the East and West queens.

The two teams have been practicing under unusually clear skies and crisp weather.

Salty Parker, Westrum Added, To Giant Staff

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Dec. 6 (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants announced today they had added Wes Westrum and Francis J. (Salty) Parker to their coaching staff.

The pair joined Herman Franks, who was named third base coach several days ago.

Westrum who has been a Giant catcher since 1947, will be retired as an active player. Parker, a veteran minor league manager for the past 10 years, has spent the last three years in the Giants organization. He led the Dallas club to a Texas League pennant last season. He currently is managing the Escogido club in the Dominican League. This makes a complete change in the Giant coaching picture. Last year the Giant coaches were Bucky Walthers, Tommy Henrich and Davey Williams.

IDaho End Replaced

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6 (UPI) — End Larry Aldrich of the University of Idaho today was scratched from the player roster of the forthcoming Shrine East-West game, officials announced.

Aldrich suffered the injury earlier in the season while playing for the Vandals. Aldrich will be replaced on the West team by Clarence Osborn, a star end from Arizona State (Tempe).

RUSTON CAGE SCRAP East Texas Invades Tech's Gym Tonight

RUSTON, La., (Special) — Seeking their second straight victory of the young season, Louisiana Tech's cagers will take on tough East Texas State at Ruston tonight.

Tip-off time will be 8 p.m. at Tech's Memorial Gymnasium for the battle that brings the two teams together for the fourth straight year.

Tech opened the 1957-58 schedule on the home court Monday night with a 58-51 win over Southeastern Oklahoma State, a finalist in the N.A.I.A. tournament in Kansas City last season. The Lions of East Texas State, defending champs of the Lone Star Conference, got the season underway Wednesday night at Commerce, Tex., when they played host to Northwestern Louisiana.

As expected, one of the big guns in the Bulldog victory Monday over Southeastern Oklahoma was Tech's big center Jack Moreland. The Minden freshman pumped in a total of 25 points for the evening to take top scoring honors in the tilt. Other Techmen who hit in the double figures were forward J. W. Mercer, 6-4 Mangham sophomore who hit for 12, and guard Charles Frye, 5-11 junior of Pittsburgh, Tex., who also accounted for 12 points.

Coach Cecil Crowley used only six players in the Monday night fray. Other Techsters who saw action were forward Gary Richardson, 6-0 Shreveport sophomore who was the game's top rebound man, guard Ronald Woodward, 6-3 sophomore of Warden, Ill., and sophomore Max Kimmel, 6-2 guard of Kilgore, Tex.

The Saturday night tussle with East Texas might well develop into battle of giant centers. Coach Norman Pilgrim of ET, who has eight lettermen and four starters back from last year, is counting heavily this winter on his tall center, 6-8 A. C. Black of Dallas, Tex. The contest between Black and 6-8 Moreland should be an interesting one. A junior transfer from S.M.U., Black joined the Lions in the spring semester last season.

Other starters for the visitors will probably be forwards James Barker, 6-4, and Dee Mackey, 6-5, guards Charles Avant, 5-11, and John W. Fite, 6-1. All are lettermen.

Coach Pilgrim is in his first season as head coach of the Texans. He replaced Bob Rogers who moved up to basketball mentor at Texas T. and M. Defending champions of the Lone Star Conference, the Lions took the title with a 12-2 loop record. They had a 20-7 season mark last year.

The Tech cagers should be well aware of the toughness of the East Texans as the two squads have split tussles the past two seasons, each winning on the home floor. Coach Crowley's Techmen won a 69-53 fray at Ruston last winter and the Lions avenged that setback with a 62-61 victory at Commerce. Two seasons back Tech won 67-64 while the Texans were on the long end of a 55-73 count.

The Tech - East Texas State series now stands at four victories for the Lions and two for the Bulldogs. East Texas State swept both games during the 1954-55 season.

Following tonight's tilt the Tech quintet will next see action Tuesday night when the Bulldogs take on Arkansas Tech at Ruston.

Orioles Will Not Operate San Antonio

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Dec. 6 (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles will not operate a team next season in the Texas League city of San Antonio, a Baltimore official said today.

Bill Walsingham, executive vice president of the club, said "we want to dispose of our franchise at San Antonio."

In reply to a question, he said: "Even if we can't sell it we will not operate there."

Walsingham said both the franchise and the physical properties of the San Antonio Club were for sale.

He said there are "several people in San Antonio interested in purchasing the club."

He acknowledged that "preliminary discussions are already underway" but he declined to name the San Antonio interests.

"It is our hope that we will find a purchaser for both the franchise and property," Walsingham said.

He is attending the major-minor baseball meetings.

Texas League officials could not be reached for comment here.

Swim Coach At Indiana U. Dies

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 6 (UPI) — Robert Royer, 55, head swimming coach since 1931 and veteran of Indiana University's coaching staff, died in his home today. He had been ill since an operation last spring.

Royer was chairman of the swimming rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and had two swimmers — Bill Woolsey and Dick Tanabe — on the 1956 U.S. Olympic team.

A native of Akron, Ind., Royer was a swimming letterman at I.U., graduating in 1928. After teaching in his hometown high school he returned to I.U. as swimming coach in 1931 and served continuously except for two seasons in administrative work.

Her deer outweighed her husband by one pound.

FIRST TIME SINCE 1954

Grid Attendance Shows Decrease

By HUGO FULLERTON Jr.
The Associated Press

For the first time since 1954, attendance at major college football games showed an over-all decrease during the 1957 season, an Associated Press survey of 116 leading institutions showed today.

The decline was not severe, but it touched nearly every section of the United States and reversed the general rising trend that had existed since World War II.

And the loss of 195,602 spectators from last year's major college total of 13,926,010 might be considered significant in a season when professional football is headed for another attendance record and when college enrollments and alumni bodies are at a peak.

In terms of average attendance, the decline was 1.41 per cent, or about 400 spectators per game. In 1956, the 116 colleges played 566 home games before average crowds of 24,649. This year the same number of home games drew 13,731,208 spectators for an average of 24,260.

The biggest losers, in percentage, were the Missouri Valley and Border Conferences and a group of smaller California schools which attributed their losses to flat and poor teams. In all three the totals were comparatively small.

The Atlantic Coast, Southern and Skyline Conferences all showed improved attendance as did two miscellaneous sectional groups.

More significant in the over-all picture was the fact the Big Ten, Southeastern and Southwest Conferences, which annually draw some of the biggest crowds, reported declines from 2.81 per cent in the Big Ten to 3.45 in the Southwest.

The Big Ten total dropped from 2,864,187 for 50 games in 1956 to 2,725,596 for 49 this year.

Changes at various institutions could be explained in most cases by factors like weather, schedules and the winning and losing records of the teams.

Army's home attendance, for example, jumped from 104,024 to 311,224. That was mainly because Army was the "home" team for the games against Notre Dame and Navy in Philadelphia, which attracted nearly 200,000 spectators.

Oklahoma increased its stadium capacity and filled it regularly.

Georgia Tech missed a sellout at each home game by only 400—but some 10,000 ticket buyers didn't show up for a rainy game against Southern Methodist.

Tackles: Alex Karras, Iowa; Charlie Kreuger, Texas A&M; Lou Michaels, Kentucky; Tom Topping, Duke.

Guards: Bill Johnson, Tennessee; Bill Krisher, Oklahoma; Jackie Simpson, Mississippi; Aurelius Thomas, Ohio State.

Centers: Dan Currie, Michigan State; Bob Reifsnyder, Navy.

Backs: Bob Anderson, Army; Jim Bakhtiar, Virginia; John Crow, Texas A&M; Lee Grosscup, Utah; King Hill, Rice; Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State; Bob Stransky, Colorado; Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State.

Week Of Decision In Professional Ranks

By HARRY WISMER

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a week of decision in professional football. When the action winds up on three fronts — at Pittsburgh, Detroit and San Francisco, the championship of both divisions of the National League could be settled. Or there could be a grand old mixup with five teams, the Baltimore Colts, San Francisco 49ers, and Detroit Lions tied in the West, and the New York Giants still vying with the Cleveland Browns for the Eastern section honors.

College football sings its swan song this weekend with three games. At Dallas, Texas, Notre Dame will conclude a fine season, winding up with Southern Methodist. At Miami, Fla., Pitt Panthers will beat Miami 19-12.

MISS BILLYE RUSSELL

Miss Russell, President Of Pilot International To Be Honored Here

Miss Billye Russell, Pilots International president, will be in Monroe on December 14th for a visit. Monroe Pilot Club will be hostess at a banquet on Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Rendezvous for Miss Russell, all Pilots of District three, and leaders of all service clubs in the Monroe area.

An interesting program has been arranged. Miss Russell, who was installed as PI-president at the meeting in Canada this past July, brings to the Pilot organization much experience in service in PI as well as in many other civic groups.

She is a practicing attorney of Houston, Texas, where she has lived for over 24 years, and is a member of the American, Federal, Texas and Houston Bar Associations also National Association of Women Lawyers.

White in Washington, D. C., during the war, she was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Ouachita CC-A Xmas Party On December 19

One of the outstanding parties of the holiday season will be that of the Ouachita County Crippled Children and Adults Association. The date of the celebration has been set as Dec. 19, at 1:30 p.m., and will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Chairman and co-chairman for the event is Mrs. Louis Masur Jr., and Mrs. Meyer Glazer. No effort has been spared to make the party a success, and the various committees have devoted much time and work toward so doing.

The crippled children will attend the regular clinic at the Carolyn Rose Strauss Rehabilitation Center on the day of the party, and will go to the K.C. Hall, next door, immediately after clinic time.

ever he was away on one of his many trips he would write every day, giving me sort of a continuous story of his adventures. And of course he always sent a copy to the Royal Library. No, it didn't seem to cramp his style at all—famous Danes do it, you know. And it's quite all right because the letters are never opened until 50 years after the death of the writer."

Love Letters May Be Public Says Artist

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
If you ever get a love letter from a famous Dane, you might as well accept the fact that a carbon copy has gone to the Danish Royal Library.

This was just one of the interesting bits of incidental information acquired by fashion illustrator Dagmar Freuchen during the 12 eventful years of her marriage to the late Peter Freuchen, the bearded Danish explorer who won fame and fortune on TV's $64,000 Question and whose last book, "Peter Freuchen's Book of the Seven Seas," has just been published posthumously.

"Peter wrote wonderful letters," says the dark-eyed, dynamic Dagmar, also a Dane, who has won a reputation as one of America's top fashion illustrators. "When-

LaVingt Meet At Country Club To Hear Mrs. Pitt

Members of the LaVingt Book Club met at the Bayou DeSard Country Club Wednesday for their December luncheon. Carrying out the Christmas motif, the tables were laid with bright green linen cloths and bore lovely arrangements of pink camellias.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, plans were completed for the club's annual Christmas project of supplying some family with food and clothes.

Mrs. Bernhardt then introduced Mrs. Thomas Pitt, guest speaker, who highlighted the Christmas program with a timely and interesting discussion of her subject "Christmas Is Giving." In an expert and charming manner, Mrs. Pitt pointed out that the spirit of Christmas should last in the hearts of men all year. Real giving is giving of one's ownself and this is done by giving one's time, one's heart, one's mind, and one's spirit. Mrs. Pitt pointed out simple ways these gifts could be given in day-to-day living. She concluded her talk by reading a pertinent story by Carol Norling entitled, "The Man In Front."

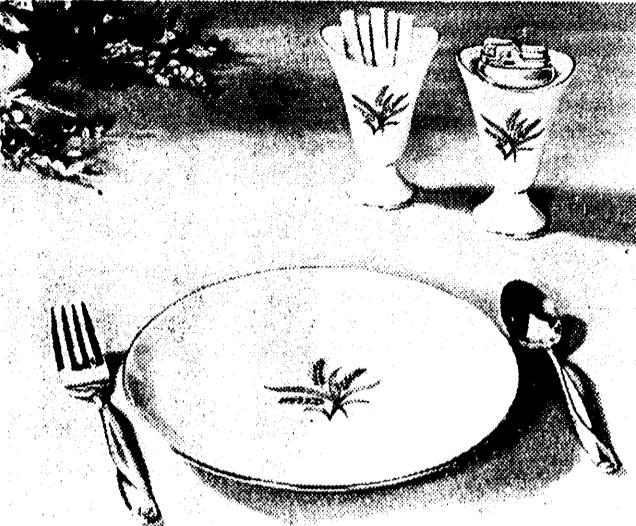

Members present for this last meeting of the club this year were Mrs. Joe Gorman, Mrs. E. W. Cruse, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. J. T. Conger, Mrs. A. Petrus, Mrs. Ralph Caldwell, Mrs. W. R. Crow, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. L. B. Ritter, Mrs. Bob Carson, Mrs. Cecil Hill, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Bruce Brooks, and Mrs. George Phibbs.

Sandra Caffery Hosts Party On Birthday

Sandra Caffery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Caffery, was the nine year old hostess at a party for a coterie of friends on her birthday.

In the Sun Recreation building, decorations were in tune with the event. The traditional cake, in pink and white, was placed on the refreshment table atop the pink and white cloths. Other goodies, dear to the heart of youngsters, were also served after the games and dancing.

In to wish Sandra a happy birthday were: Vickie Lee, Brenda Hixon, Martin Graves, Jack Green, Karan Adecock, Jean Dis-sisters Ann, Judy, Susan and Mary were also in attendance to join the fun.

LIGHTER SET to match china. A new dessert setting for today's living includes china cigarette lighter and urn set that match fine china patterns. Specifically designed to grace the dining table, these new lighter sets enable the hostess to continue with harmonious table appointments through the entire meal . . . even after dessert and during the coffee period.

Parents Set Examples
In Matters Of Honesty

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED
Perhaps the thought of pilfering comes to mind more often at this time of year, because of the crowds, the profusion of merchandise and the temptation that the need for presents forces upon a child.

When one has a strong sense of honesty there is no temptation. But children are not completely finished individuals. Their sense of possession may be weak because they have so few things they can call their own. The example of their parents' dishonesty in small matters may be apparent to them. The package that came by mistake and was never returned. The extra change which Daddy pocketed gleefully. Any such episode makes a deep impression upon children.

Make Issue of Mistakes
This makes it doubly necessary for parents to put great emphasis upon what is and is not right. With a child we make a real issue of any mistakes he may make so that in the future he will think twice and thrice before he makes them again. We lay stress upon the necessity to ask permission before he takes or uses anything which does not belong to him.

To make the lesson stick even better we are extremely specific of what belongs to the child. It may be no more than a stone picked up in the back yard. But if it is his we leave it alone. We do not throw it away until he does, or says that we may. That is his stone and so deserves our respect as such.

By such attention to trivial de-

When we lay such a ground-work early in the child's life, we need not fear that temptation will make him forgetful of what he has learned. Then he can go through any department or 10-cent store and be impetuous to the merchandise which is laid out ready to his hand.

Those parents have not done all they could to make this matter of ownership clear, is illustrated by the dishonesty which is rampant in any school, even in colleges and private schools where the supposed "privileged" youth is schooled.

Any adult knows that she dare not lay a package down in any store and turn her back upon it or it will disappear. This is disheartening evidence of the power of material possessions and the lengths to which people will go to get them.

Obviously the parents of many did not begin this emphasis upon the rights of ownership early enough in life — or they did not provide the right example in their own daily living. This is the only answer.

TO DELIGHT your school age youngster, make this smart looking corduroy cap, glove and bag set. It can be used for lunch—with the thermos—or for just plain "totin!" A half yard of wool plaid, a half yard of plastic leather and the bag rings are all that is needed. The gloves are made from the bias corners and topped with gay pom-poms of red yarn.

WHY GROW OLD?

Are You A Bean Pole?
Read This To Fill Out

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is difficult for those of us who must battle the bulges to believe that there are some women who are short on curves! However, there are many of them and they are most unhappy about the condition. They write that they feel like bean poles rather than women, and extremely unattractive with nary a bustle or bosom. These women are usually underweight and of course a gain of 10 or so pounds will encourage the curves they crave. However, special exercises also can be of great help. These not only increase the appetite but can increase the calf and bust measurements. Exercise also is relaxing and most thin folks are tense.

Today I want to give you a few exercises which improve the defects most slim gals worry about.

Bust Development

1. Sit straight or stand tall. Bend both elbows and raise them forward to almost shoulder height. Grasp the forearm of the left arm with the right hand and the forearm of the right arm with the left hand. Push the elbows toward one another. Resist with the hands. Relax. Continue.

2. Stand tall. Raise the arms sideward, shoulder height. Take a weight in each hand. Move the weight in each hand. Move the care of this newspaper.

arms forward (elbows stiff) until the hands touch. Return arms to sideward, shoulder height position. Continue.

1. Stand facing a chair. Place your hands on the back of the chair. Rise high on your toes. Keep the heels off the floor as you slowly bend your knees all the way down. Slowly straighten the knees (heels still off the floor) until you are again high on your toes. Lower heels to the floor. Continue. This is splendid for calf development and thigh firming.

Arm Development

Many slim women wish to have more arm contour. Tennis, golf, swimming, pingpong and badminton are all good. Also do the following exercise:

Stand tall. Make fists and place the back of the wrists on the hips. Straighten the elbows and fingers and shoot the arms out sideward, shoulder height. Again make fists and place the back of the wrists on the hips. Continue. Grip HARD with the fists.

If you would like to have my 9-day Gaining Diet and bust development routines, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflets 7 and 41 to Josephine Lowman in weight in each hand. Move the care of this newspaper.

Sheep Group Is Headed By Boughton

DELHI (Special) — The Richland Parish Sheep Association held its annual meeting and barbecue recently, with the election of officers and transaction of business.

Benny Boughton of Mangham was elected president for 1958, succeeding Robert Calvert of Rayville. Hollis Venable was elected vice president, and Roy Norman secretary-treasurer. The board of directors will consist of E. C. Hollis, of Rayville; Bish Mott, of Oak Ridge; L. O. Boughton, of Mangham; and Dr. A. B. Cochran, of Rayville.

Plans were discussed for the 1958 wool sale to be held at Delhi.

The sale was initially organized in 1957 and was most successful. Prices for wool averaged 15 per pound higher than other sales in this area, and provided a place for sheep growers throughout Northeast Louisiana to market wool without going into Mississippi.

A resolution was adopted commanding the out-going president, Robert Calvert, for outstanding services to the association during his term of office, and especially his efforts in initiating the wool sale.

Sheriff's Officers Arrest Two Here

Sheriff's officials arrested two men here yesterday, one on a theft charge and the other on a charge of forgery.

Sheriff Bailey Grant identified the two as Leon Owens, 21, of Baucomville and Ervin Leon Atkins, 20, whose address was not given.

Grant is held in lieu of a $750 bond on a charge of theft of $20. Atkins was released on a $1,000 bond after being charged with forging a $500 promissory note.

Warrant for the arrest of Owens was issued Dec. 4, and Atkins' warrant was issued Dec. 2.

45 Cases Heard In 4th District Court Session

Four persons were each fined $300 or 90 days in jail in Fourth District Court yesterday, on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Judge Jesse Heard meted out sentence, and presided over cases involving 41 other charges.

Fined for driving while intoxicated were Jim B. Weaver, Willie McMillan, George P. Warren and Thomas B. Teate. Warren was also fined $25 or 10 days in jail on charges of driving without a license.

Found Innocent

Stella Tannehill was found innocent of selling whiskey to a minor.

In a preliminary hearing at 9:30 a.m., Zoeller B. Potter was bound over to the Grand Jury, on charges that she fatally wounded a Negro and stabbed three others on Oct. 18. Willie Jackson died from knife wounds after he was injured on that day. She will be held without bail until the Grand Jury meets in April, 1958.

Jim Elmore admitted theft of gasoline and money valued at $33.32, and was remanded for sentencing during the morning session of District Court.

Dominic Cappo denied charges of carnal knowledge of a juvenile, and trial was set for Feb. 18, 1958.

After pleading guilty to a charge of prostitution, Edna Catherine Hebert was fined $50 or 30 days in jail.

A sentence of 90 days in jail was drawn by Benjamin Carter, after he pleaded guilty to four counts of making an anonymous obscene telephone call.

Willie M. Green and Jane A. Watson were each found innocent of reckless driving. Jasper Clyde Sellers pleaded guilty to the same charge, and was remanded for sentencing.

Continued until a later date was the trial of Louis E. Payne, charged with driving while under the influence of an alcoholic beverage.

A case set for trial was continued until Jan. 10. Gerald Clayton Martin faces charges ofreckless driving and hit and run driving.

Also reset for Jan. 10 is a case against Johnnie Wright, charged with driving while under the influence of an alcoholic beverage.

On charges of driving without a license, James A. Babb was fined $25 or 10 days in jail. Voet O. Badgett was fined $25 or 15 days on a charge of driving without a license, and an additional $25 or 15 days for driving with improper lights.

Lue Sattie Piper was fined a total of $100 or 50 days after pleading guilty to three charges. She was fined $50 or 30 days for reckless driving, and $25 or 10 days on each charge of driving without a license and with defective brakes.

Trial Set

Trial was set on Dec. 20 for Earl R. Stewart, who denied charges of theft of a $6 blanket.

Willie Gene Davis was fined $200 or 90 days for illegal carrying of a weapon, and $25 or 10 days for charges of driving without a license.

Woodrow Wilson Melton also was fined $25 or 10 days for disturbing the peace.

Reckless driving cost Eddie Butler $75 or 30 days in jail. He was also fined $25 or 10 days after admitting he drove without a chauffeur's license.

Howard E. Crow admitted a speeding charge, and was fined $60 or 25 days. Louis D. Doughtier denied driving while intoxicated, and trial was set for Jan. 31. Arthur C. Williams also denied charges of driving while intoxicated and without a driver's license, and will be tried on Dec.

20.

No notice was given Joseph A. Graves, charged on the court docket with reckless driving and speeding, and the case was passed over.

Called on bond was Thomas Van Buren, who failed to appear on charges of driving without a license.

AT BOARD MEETING

Retirement Plan Explained Here

All parish employees throughout the state who are 65 years old will begin compulsory retirement on July 1, 1958. The Board of Trustees of the parochial Employees' Retirement System yesterday requested W. A. Breedlove to send a notification of this to all parishes, police jury boards, and other boards concerned with hiring parish employees.

The notice will be sent out six months in advance of the date, so that parishes may train replacements for those due to retire.

The Board made the request yesterday morning during its annual meeting, held in the Ouachita parish courthouse. The session took place in the office of Breedlove, who is secretary-manager of the System.

Presiding over the conference was R. Eddie Evans, vice-chairman from Ruston, acting in place of the chairman, L. E. Legendre of Thibodaux. Legendre was unable to attend the session. Other members present included L. F. Clawson, Shreveport; J. J. Holgrave, Metairie; Mrs. E. H. Hill, Monroe, and Breedlove, Monroe.

After the session, the group adjourned to the Penn hotel for a luncheon.

A 76 per cent increase in contributions to the retirement fund by parish employees and a 38 per cent increase in contributions noted. Breedlove commented that

3 Hurt When Autos Collide

COLUMBIA (Special) — Two vehicles collided near here yesterday, causing minor injuries to three persons and hospitalizing another.

A pickup truck driven by William H. Bruce, 29, of Winnboro, collided with an automobile driven by King Pleasant, 37, Negro, of Ft. Necessity, officials said.

The accident occurred at 3:15 p.m. where state highway No. 4 intersects state 133.

The Caldwell Parish Sheriff's Department said Pleasant attempted to make a left turn as he approached 133, but cut in front of the truck.

Hospitalized

Hospitalized was Jim Williams, 27-year-old Negro, of Caldwell Parish. He was rushed to Conway Memorial Hospital at Monroe where his condition last night was undetermined.

Williams was riding with Pleasant, who received only minor bruises. J. R. Roberts, 26, of Winnfield, was a passenger in Bruce's vehicle. He was cut on the head and face, but released from the clinic here.

Bruce escaped uninjured. Williams reportedly had chest and internal injuries.

Articles Found

A purse containing $6 but no identification, was found yesterday and turned in at police headquarters. Sgt. Clayton Hand said a Negro woman, Carrie Mae Short, found the purse containing $6 at 3110 White Street, Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr., pointed out that about a week ago a small boy found a purse containing $20. He said officials knew the owner, who rewarded the lad.

love, secretary-treasurer of the Louisiana Police Jury Association; and R. Eddie Evans, vice-chairman of the association. (Staff photo by John Fogelman)

Retirement Plan Explained Here

All parish employees throughout the state who are 65 years old will begin compulsory retirement on July 1, 1958. The Board of Trustees of the parochial Employees' Retirement System yesterday requested W. A. Breedlove to send notification of this to all parishes, police jury boards, and other boards concerned with hiring parish employees.

The notice will be sent out six months in advance of the date, so that parishes may train replacements for those due to retire.

The Board made the request yesterday morning during its annual meeting, held in the Ouachita parish courthouse. The session took place in the office of Breedlove, who is secretary-manager of the System.

Presiding over the conference was R. Eddie Evans, vice-chairman from Ruston, acting in place of the chairman, L. E. Legende of Thibodaux. Lengendre was unable to attend the session. Other members present included L. F. Clawson, Shreveport; J. J. Holtgrave, Metairie; Mrs. E. H. Hill, Monroe, and Breedlove, Monroe.

After the session, the group adjourned to the Penn hotel for a luncheon.

A 76 per cent increase in contributions to the retirement fund by parish employees and a 38 per cent increase in contributions from sheriffs' departments was noted. Breedlove commented that many new members have come into the system, and more money is contributed as a result of higher salaries.

Three Monroe physicians were named to the System's Medical Board, newly located at Monroe. Members include Dr. J. Ralph Simpson, Dr. C. A. Ulrich and Dr. C. P. Grey, replacing three Natchitoches physicians who served on the Board while it was in that city.

Board members approved a refund of $29,396 to contributing members who left parish employment during 1957.

Deposit Rates

Rates on member deposits were fixed at two per cent on the balance as of Dec. 31, 1956.

In other business, members approved retirement for three employees. Due to retire on Jan. 1, 1958, are Mrs. Lellah Hood Lyle, of Richland parish, and two Caddo parish men, Frank Hamrick and William H. Swearengen.

The secretary—manager was authorized to have 5,000 copies of reference manual printed, explaining the retirement system for all parish employees throughout the state.

Bruce escaped uninjured. Williams reportedly had chest and internal injuries.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (P)—Cotton futures sagged in late dealings today as the market met increased profit taking and hedging following earlier steadiness. Final prices were 45 cents a bale higher to 65 cents lower with the largest declines in new crop months. Some selling was said to be against recent purchases of Commodity Credit Corp. cotton for unrestricted use. Traders ended up positions extensively prior to the government's December cotton crop report Monday.

A private survey placed the 1957 crop at 10,000,000 bales. The average of traders' views this week indicated that the market is looking for a report of 10,800,000 to 11,000,000 bales as compared with November government forecast of 11,788,000 bales.

There were ten December transferable notices issued at New York.

Cotton futures moved irregularly lower in late dealings as hedging and liquidation increased.

Future closed 45 cents a bale higher to 65 cents lower than the previous close.

Stock Drop Blamed In Part On Rocket

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (P) — The stock market declined today with part of the selling blamed on failure of the Vanguard test satellite project.

Bank credit supplies across the country were expanded materially by the Federal Reserve System in the week ended Wednesday. The development followed two weeks of inconclusive action since the Federal Reserve first cut its fee on loans to member banks to three per cent from 3½ per cent in mid-November.

Leading steel, motors, metals, rails and oils retreated fractionally to about 1 point. There were losses in aircraft-missiles extending to about 2 points. A few stocks recorded wider declines.

Some issues in the rubber, radio-television and tobacco groups resisted selling and scored gains. The utilities also held up well.

Although the whole market retreated after the satellite failure, it had been lower prior to that disappointment. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down $1.00 at $158.50 but it was off 70 cents immediately prior to the sad satellite news.
